As was predicted, the children's parade and carnival Saturday afternoon was the crowning event of the street fair. It was more, as it is the opinion of many that it far surpassed in beauty anything that has been given in our city, and attracted the biggest crowd of the week.

Maryville people who attended the St. Joseph and Omaha children's parade and carnival, and many out-of-town visitors in Maryville Saturday from those cities said the parade by the Maryville children Saturday was far ahead of St. Joseph and Omaha.

The secret of it is: Maryville has beautiful children and Maryville women know how to do things. The appearance of the children, the floats, the various vehicles, and everything pertaining to it showed that the most painstaking and thoughtful work had been done to make it the success it was.

The babies and little wee toddlers in the parade were the most popular, perhaps. The baby in the first prize buggy sat complacently in her beautiful flowery vehicle with her thumb in her mouth, and that little bunch of sweetness in yellow was so surprised at seeing so many folks along the way that she had to be guided into her proper place quite frequently. She didn't know she was any part of the show. Another little girl, a 3-year-old, stopped to feel of some roses on her doll's buggy, while another wee mother stopped and fixed the sunshade better over her baby's face. The face of every child in the parade looked sweet and some were pretty as flowers.

The whole affair was fine, and every boy and girl and baby conducted themselves in the most delightfully perfect and natural manner.

The committee in charge, County Superintendent Oakerson, Mrs. M. A. Turner, Miss Besse Scott, Mrs. Berney Harris, Miss Ella Noll and Mrs. J. W. Ray, are to be congratulated upon the success of the affair, and they are very grateful to the parents and all who assisted them in any way. They owe much of their success to Mrs. D. N. Scott, Mrs. N. W. Templeton, Mrs. H. L. Raines, Miss Nellie Wray and Miss Bessie Cox.

The parade started from the Empire theater at 2 o'clock, headed by the Maryville and Albany bands.

The Carnival Queen, pretty 10-year-old Marie Cloud, followed in her wonderful white chariot, which was drawn by her pages, Clifford and Ray Hull, John and George Thompson, Eugene and Ralph Yehle and James Protzman.

Her maids of honor supported the canopy of the chariot, and were Alice Peery, Ruth and Gladys Bookman, Gladys Morehouse, Madalyn Strawn, Justine Fraser and Bernice Crawford.

The following children, dressed in white and carrying red pompons, marched behind the chariot: Lucy and Henrietta Allen, Thelma and Opal Craig, Gladys Dragoo, May Kissinger, Velma Higgins, Mabel Garrett, Gladys Culverson, Catherine Harrison, Sadie Aley, Mildred Miller, Janet Lorena Gault, Mildred Elizabeth Hudson, Agnes Isdora Murray, Lena May McMullin, Arvetta Spoor, Iva Hartness, Marie Alden, Eleanor Sawyers, Eva Beaman, Dorothy Snodderly, Geneva Littler, Mary Rosanna Edmunston, Leta Hantz, Iva and Fay Sparks, Gladys Lowrey, Mariam Gray, Mary Ruth Curfman, Mildred Grundy, Beulah McLarnon, Mata Price, Bessie Schaub, Nina Blanche Jones, Amanda and Marinda Sales, Harriet Josephine Miller, Helen Miller of Hopkins, Ruth Miller, Ruth Moon, Mildred Anna Jones, Irene Maxwell, Helen Dragoo, Mary Hawkins, Anice Garten, inez and Hope Moore, LaVera Rickard, Mamie Borchers, Edith Hartness, Sylvia Frazee, Doris Glover, Grace Foster, Mildred Avitt, Bernice Orcutt, LaCreta Smith, Ruth Olney, Mabel, Evelyn and Laura Margaret Raines, and Walter Allen, Aaron Moore, Gilbert Grundy, Harold Allen, LaVelle Smith, Earl Miller, Clifford Murray, Wilbur Allen, Russell Robey, Ferris Byrnes and his cousins, Walter Sturm and Eddie Felix of Clyde.

The Boy Scouts in the parade were at first intended to march as guard to the queen and her retinue, but it was found necessary to detail them for special duty, and they were stationed along the line to help the little folks, some of whom became so much bewildered by the enthusiasm they aroused in the immense crowd that they did not know what to do or which way to go and were sometimes right at the tearful stage. The kind, brotherly hand and voice of a Boy Scout always came at the right moment, and all went well to the end of the long march, the Barmann & Wolfert carriage factory. The Boy Scouts in line were:

Joe Farmer, Phil Colbert, Vern Pickens, William Van Cleve, Henry Sawyers, Leland Leffler, William Hutchinson, Claude Glass, Forrest Gillam, Leonard Gray, James Gray, Elmer Allen, Orville Carmichael, Martin Penisten, Virgil Borrusch, Irwin Harris, Robert Harris, Toel Lorance, Jennings Jackson, Carl Young, Kenneth Van Cleve, Ellison Frank, Paul Pickens.

BODY OF LATE HARRY M. TURNER ARRIVED IN CITY MONDAY.

SICK ONLY A SHORT TIME

Death Was Very Sudden and Unexpected—Burial in Miriam Cemetery.

The body of the late Harry M. Turner of Chicago, whose death occurred Thursday, arrived in Maryville Monday morning on the Burlington train, accompanied by Mrs. Turner and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Holt of Miles City, Mont.

Also Mrs. Turner's nephew, Roland Craig of Clarence, Mo.; and a nephew of Mr. Turner, Martin Railey of Chicago, and Joseph Smith, a member of the stock commission firm of Chicago to which the late Mr. Turner belonged.

Other relatives and friends in the city were: Mr. and Mrs. John B. Swearingen of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wright of Blockton, Ia.; Myron Staples, Rudolph Staples, O. F. Wilson, Charles Walker, Jesse Walker and John Brown of Burlington Junction.

The body was escorted to Miriam cemetery by the Knight Templars of this city and many old friends of Mrs. Turner and her husband.

Mrs. Turner and those in the party who accompanied her to Maryville Monday morning left for Chicago Monday evening.

Mr. Turner's death came very suddenly. He was apparently in fair health since his recovery from a serious surgical operation a year ago. A few days ago, however, he began feeling badly, and on examination it was found necessary to open the wound caused by the operation performed a year ago. It was a minor operation that only took two or three minutes to perform, but he was weaker than anyone knew. He went to the operating table on Thursday afternoon about 5 o'clock with no thought of any serious results. He survived but five minutes. Mr. Turner was about 53 years old. He was born in St. Joseph, Mo., and spent his whole life in this section of Missouri until his removal to Chicago, some twenty years ago. He was always engaged in the live stock commission business and enjoyed a wide acquaintance over the country among stock men. He was eminently successful as a business man, and for a number of years was a member of the McCauslin-Turner-Hogue Live Stock Commission Co. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Mary Stephenson, daughter of the late Ed T. Stephenson of Maryville. They were married thirty-two years ago in this city.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Rural Mail Carrier Falls Into Creek, But Delivered His Mail.

E. J. Florea, a substitute rural mail carrier from the Hopkins postoffice, met with an accident Saturday afternoon that might have cost him his life, says Monday's St. Joseph Gazette. The recent heavy rains had weakened a bridge that spans the Mowery, a small stream east of Hopkins, and when he drove onto it the structure gave way sufficiently to precipitate him and his team into the stream. He not only escaped injury but was still clinging to the mail bags when he came up out of the water, and finished serving the patrons of his route.

Will Teach in Idaho.

Miss Alice Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ray of South Main street, received a telegram Saturday from St. Anthony, Idaho, stating that she had been elected a member of the faculty of a graded school near there. Miss Ray expects to leave next week to take up her work there. Her brother, Lawrence Ray, went to St. Anthony last week from Golden Prairie, Wyo., where he has been living on his ranch, and has a position in a department store in the Idaho city.

Mr. Valentine Ager of Pekin, Ill., is the guest of his sister, Mrs. John C. White, and family, living west of Maryviile.

Edward Eversole of Kansas City spent Sunday in the city with his sister, Miss Esther Eversole, and his uncle, D. R. Eversole.

Mrs. J. T. Fuqua of Savannah returned to her home Monday morning after a week's visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ellis G. Cook.

THE QUAKERS WIN

Philadelphia won the second game of the world's base ball series Monday afternoon, which was played in Philadelphia. The score was 3 to 1. The batteries were: New York, Marquard, Crandall and Meyers; Philadelphia, Plank and Thomas. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
New York	1	5	3
Philadelphia	3	5	0

ESCAPED FROM CITY JAIL.

Saturday Night Three Prisoners Broke Out.

Three prisoners that had been locked up in the city jail during the fair week, escaped Saturday night. They were O'Riley, Bert Doran and Henry Hawk. No effort was made to go after the prisoners as the city authorities believed that it was a good thing for them to get out of town.

A little trouble was had Saturday afternoon with the fortune teller. It is claimed that she took a five-dollar bill from the pocketbook of Frank McClain. She paid back the money after some little time, but denied that she ever took it.

WILL BE HERE WEDNESDAY.

State Grand Instructor to Hold I. O. O. F. Lodge of Instruction.

Hon. Morrison Pritchett, state grand instructor of the I. O. O. F. lodge, will be in Maryville, October 18 and 19, for the purpose of holding a lodge of instruction. Mr. Pritchett was to have been here last month, but was stricken with appendicitis at Webb City.

THE OPENING NUMBER.

To Be Given Friday Evening at Business College Auditorium.

The opening number of the Redpath college entertainment course will be given in the Business college auditorium Friday night of this week. The sale of tickets has been exceptionally good, and only a few are left. The entertainment is a musical number of real merit, known as "The Ladies' Spanish orchestra." It consists of seven ladies who play, and a gentleman, who is a reader or impersonator. The Redpath bureau is so well and favorably known, and the people they send out are so universally popular and clever that it is needless to say that this entertainment is a good one. Season tickets are on sale at the Bee Hive, Mark's news stand and the college office, and may be bought for $1.50. Single admission tickets on sale after 9 o'clock Wednesday at Reuillard's, 50c. Persons desiring to have season tickets reserved may do so at the college office Wednesday morning after 8 o'clock, by paying 25 cents extra.

Left for Oklahoma.

J. B. Taylor and his daughter, Miss Anna Taylor, living seven miles northeast of the city, left Monday morning for Pryor, Okla., for a visit with Mr. Taylor's daughter, Mrs. Charles Wells, and family.

Cards and Dominoes.

Mrs. J. E. Bailey, Mrs. Frank L. Garrett and Mrs. George P. Wright have issued one hundred and seventy-five invitations for card and domino parties at the home of Mrs. Bailey, 304 East Fourth street, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, October 24, 25 and 26.

Were Sunday Dinner Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Eisenman entertained at Sunday dinner the following guests: Mrs. W. A. Rountree of Ellis, Kan.; Mr. and Mrs. George Eisenman and three children of Maryville; Mrs. W. A. Fite and four children of Maryville, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kennel, Mrs. A. H. Fite of Kansas City, Mo. The guests were all children of the host and hostess, and it was their first reunion in four years.

Will Give College Social.

The faculty and students of the Maryville Business college will give a reception in the college rooms Tuesday night, to which all students and young people in the city are invited. The invitation is general and everyone is invited. Refreshments will be served, games played, and the following program, beginning at 8:30, will be given.

ASSESSMENT BOOKS IN.

Polk, Independence and Atchison Are In.

Three assessment books have been turned in at the office of County Clerk George Demott. The first book turned in was Polk township, by Assessor E. F. Hamlin. In Polk township the assessment is about $16,000 less than it was in 1911. For this year the total assessed valuation is $3,607,435, and in 1911 it was $3,623,249.

Atchison township assessment book was turned in by R. Lebonia, assessor. In 1911, the assessment was $736,868, and for this year it was $693,240, or a decrease over last year of $43,628.

In Independence township the assessment is also lower than it was last year. The book was brought in Monday by Assessor George Hepburn. For 1911 it was $797,675, an dfor 1912 it was $788,890.

With Iowa State Band.

Miss Vera Sayler, daughter of Judge and Mrs. J. H. Sayler of this city, who has been engaged with the Comet Amusement company of Red Oak, Ia., the past three years, has commenced an engagement as pianist with the Iowa State Band Concert company, which appeared in Des Moines last week. Miss Sayler is announced on the program as a graduate of the Landon Conservatory of Music and a pupil of Professor Martin Miessler of the Liepsic conservatory. She was a favorite pupil of Mr. Miessler while he was with the Maryville Conservatory, and was an accomplished pianist, a talent that was developed early. The Iowa State band has forty-two members, all artists, and it is certainly a high compliment paid our Maryville young woman to be selected as pianist for the cultured violinist, reader and soloist for this company.

Mrs. W. A. Rickenbrode returned Saturday evening from Trenton, Mo., Where she has been visiting relatives and friends the past two weeks. Mrs. Rickendrode represented the Twentieth Century club in the district meeting there ten days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hepburn and son and family of Hopkins came to Maryville Saturday to attend the children's carnival and visit their daughter, Mrs. D. E. Hotchkin, and family.

FAIR WAS A SUCCESS

WILL PROBABLY HAVE LEFT $200 OR $300.

GOOD ORDERLY CROWDS

And There Was No Trouble of Any Kind—Committee Should Be Given Credit.

The city authorities say that the crowd that was here last week was the best natured good crowd that was ever in the city. There were only a few arrests made for drunkenness, and no arrests were made for stealing or picking pockets. And on Saturday night, carnival night, the crowd was very orderly and there was no roughness or anything of that kind that is so common on carnival night. Everyone had confetti and was throwing it.

It is not known just at this time how the fair came out financially. Some $2,200 was raised by subscription, $500 was taken in during the week from the shows and $600 was taken in from concessions, making a total of $3,300. A statement of the receipts and expenditures will be published in a few days.

It is thought, however, by those that had charge of the fair that probably the committee will be $200 or $300 to the good.

That the street fair was a success everyone declared. Outside of one day, Thursday, we had good weather, and if it hadn't been for the heavy rain of Thursday probably the largest crowd that was ever in the city would have been here. Saturday's crowd was a record breaking one, and for the other days during the week a large crowd was present.

Everyone liked the free attractions and the special features that were given during the week. The entertainment offered was the best that could be offered by any city the size of Maryville, and everyone seemed to have been amply repaid for taking in the street fair.

The committee that had charge deserved a great deal of credit for the success of the fair. They had been working hard for the past month, and to such boosters as Mayor Robey, Jim Andy Ford, R. P. Hosmer, Albert Kuchs, W. F. Phares, E. W. Keck, M. A. Turner, H. L. Raines, Berney Harris, Lawrence Schumacher, Frank Reuillard, Luther Forsyth, F. R. Marcell, R. G. Sanders and a few others full credit should be given for the success of Maryville's big week.

Formerly Lived Here.

William Stockton of Beatrice, Neb., spent Sunday in Maryville the guest of his cousins, Mrs. G. W. Hempstead and Mrs. E. L. Andrews. He went to Stanberry Monday morning on business. Mr. Stockton is a son of Robert Stockton, formerly of this city. He is one of the managers of the Dempsey Mill Manufacturing Co. of Beatrice, and is out on a special business trip.

Ulysses Lloyd has gone to Grant Pass, Ore., to spend the winter.

In a Japanese Temple.

"Asakuse Temple is dedicated to the goddess Kwannon, a tiny image of gold, about two and a half inches high," writes a traveler in Japan. "At the entrance to the temple grounds on either side of the immense gate stand two large and fearful looking figures, guarding the sacred precincts. Hanging outside the wire grating are a number of sandals for their use if they wish to take a walk, and rice is sprinkled about. Each worshiper, before entering the temple, calls at a small building, and after contributing a small amount, washes his hands and rinses his mouth.

"In front of the main shrine is a large aperture in the floor, covered with lattice work, into which the worshiper casts his gift. After clapping his hands to awaken or attract the attention of the god he kneels, but his prayer is only brief. While there is one chief shrine, there are many others under the same roof.

"One shrine especially attracted my attention; it was made of wood, and quite disfigured and worn through the constant rubbing of hands on the spot corresponding to the afflicted portions of the sufferers' bodies."

Best He Could Do.

When Ralph Delmore, who was assisting in staging "The Confession," was giving instructions one day to the actors as to what they should wear during the snow storm in the first act, he said: "I want every one to wear their heaviest overcoats during this scene, as it is supposed to be the coldest night in twenty years. Now, don't forget this." Mr. Delmore repeated this order several times to impress it on the minds of the actors, when one of them, undoubtedly new to the stage and who had no lines at all to speak, approached him. "I have no overcoat, Mr. Delmore, but suppose I wear my heavy flannel underwear?"—Kansas City Star.

One Text Wasn't Popular.

The president's pastor, Dr. U. S. G. Pierce, who is also chaplain of the senate, used to spend his summers camping in Colorado, where a party of cowboys elected him their "chaplain."

When they were clearing their dance hall preparatory to his holding his first Sunday services therein, the clergyman called one of their leaders aside and sounded him on the subjects which might be most appropriate for a sermon.

"Mosten anything you're a mind to say 'll do, dominie," answered the cowboy, "if you'll just cut out the prodigal son. That's about the only Bible text the boys is sore on."—Philadelphia Record.

Baby carriage, decorated in pink and white festooning and ribbons, contained Walter Ritchie Mutz, the 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mutz. Wheeled by Mildred Shinabargar.

Little Miss Hattie Mae Taylor, as a French maid, wheeled her youngest nephew, Henry Moore, 6-months-old, in a baby carriage decorated in pink and white roses and led her 3-year-old niece, Sara Lee Taylor, who carried a pink and white parasol.

Marian Sanders, with her doll in its buggy, decorated in lavender crysanthemums and lavender tulle bows. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Sanders.

Augusta Edwards, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. A. Edwards, with doll in buggy decorated in red and white roses.

Winona Lee Greenelsh, with doll in buggy covered with festoons in blue and white.

Little Elizabeth Flint, doll in buggy, trimmed in blue and white rosettes.

Bettie Harris, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berney Harris, wheeled her dog and doll in buggy trimmed in green crepe paper and pink roses.

Ramona John, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. John, had her doll buggy in white festooning and salvia and carried a white parasol decorated in salvia.

Sterril Bishop, daughter of Mrs. Alpha Colvin Bishop, had doll buggy in red and white festooning.

Audrey and Annette Stiwalt, little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stilwalt, each had their doll buggies in pale blue.

Eva Margaret Frank, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Frank, wheeled her beloved rag doll in its buggy, all in decorations of white.

Harriet Miller, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Miller, wheeled her teddy bear in her doll buggy, with red and white decorations.

The pretty little miniature wedding party float, containing bride and groom, minister and little ring bearer, was the work of Mrs. D. N. Scott. The float was drawn by Martha Helpley and Marie Davenport, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Helpley and Mrs. Clara Davenport.

Emma LaVeta Martin, 2½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Martin, won the first prize. Her doll buggy, doll and herself were dressed in sky blue and gold. There were 350 tea roses in blue and gold on her doll's go-cart.

Ruth Louise Jensen, the 23-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jensen, won the second prize. She was all in yellow, also her doll, and her doll buggy was covered with yellow crysanthemums. Ruth Louise is a cousin of Emma LaVeta Martin, their mothers being sisters.

Marie Kissigner wheeled her large doll in a go-cart decorated in red and white roses.

Wilma Ball wheeled her doll in its go-cart with red and white festoons.

Lois Helen Brown was all in white and wheeled her doll in its buggy, also in decorations of white crepe paper.

Julian Parvin, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Parvin, in white suit, rode his decorated bicycle, also in white, representing the sun (son) moon and seven stars.

Robert Whitchurch, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Whitchurch, wearing a white suit, rode his bicycle decorated in red and white. His little sister, Virginia, in suit of red, stood on the step at the back of the wheel.

Cecil Maul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Maul, was dressed as a knight and rode his bicycle in red and white.

Little Mildred Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace, rode her tricycle, and was all in white with silver trimmings, winning second prize.

Little Margaret Dietz rode her tricycle in decorations of red and white and blue.

Master Francis Parle, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Parle, won first prize with his tricycle, which was decorated in wax flowers, red roses and carnations.

Master Fay Allen drew a little two-wheeled cart decorated in red and white, containing baby Helen Marie Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Murray.

Little Joe Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berney Harris, was "Little Boy Blue," and also blew his horn. His suit and his bicycle were all in blue.

Berney Harris, Jr., and Martin Lewis, Jr., rode bicycles in decorations of red and white.

John Costello, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ed Costello, was a prize winner with his bicycle, which was decorated in red dahlias and coxcomb.

Merrill Reece, express wagon in decorations of red and white.

Vodre Merrel Willoughby, drew his express wagon containing his pug dog, Tootsie, all decorated in the street fair colors.

Frank Martin, Jr., drew his express wagon containing Peter, Peter, Punkin Eater and his wife, all highly decorated.

Harold Miller and Donald Herndon, small sons of Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Miller and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Herndon, drew Harold's baby sister, Leola, in his express wagon, decorated with red and yellow oak leaves.

Master Robert Westfall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Westfall, dressed in white suit and red cap, drew his express wagon in red and white decorations.

Master Dorsey Lee Childress, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Childress, drew a splendid prairie schooner in miniature, containing his 2-year-old cousin, William Brams. A chicken coop was fastened on the back of the schooner, buckets under it and a gun inside.

Master Davie Hudson drew his express wagon, which was decorated in red and white.

Cecil Spoor, the 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Spoor, was much admired. His express wagon contained a fair looking man made of a squash, and every vegetable that grows, we think, had a place in that wagon. Cecil looked the typical "barefoot boy." He was barefooted, had on overalls, hickory shirt and big straw hat.

The Hiawatha float was indeed unique. Louise Peery, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Peery, and Forrest Smith, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur C. Smith, were Minnehaha and Hiawatha, seated on their tricycles around which a canoe made of brown building paper had been built. Minnehaha guided the tricycle while Hiawatha sat in the rear and plied the oars. They were in excellent costume, wigs and all, and were so well painted that no one knew them.

A float of Jack Frost, or the Snow man, was that of Victor Moore, Jr. Dressed in soft downy white from head to foot with snow falling all around him, the little fellow hurried down the parade in his automobile.

Raymond and Mary Oakerson, little son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Oakerson of Skidmore, represented America and Canada. America sat in the express wagon very gracefully while Canada eagerly marched with a movement that will sure bring reciprocity.

"Madam Butterfly," represented by Dorothy McDonald, was a very pretty float, drawn by Doris Marie Goforth, Anna Marie Price, Bernice Crawford and Faye Farmer. This float was the work of Mrs. Mark Turner.

Little Katharine Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gray, rode her tricycle, which was hidden in red and white roses.

"The Lion Tamer," in a cage armed with a big revolver he had to hold with both hands, was quite an attraction. He was Robert Mearl Godsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Godsey. The lion was his beautiful large fine pet, the family cat. The cage was on his express wagon, drawn by his little brother, Townsend Godsey, and their playmate, Carlos Yehle, dressed in regular Indian costumes. The make-up was great.

Bryan Sells, driving his dog, Sport, to his express wagon, decorated in flags, brought up the rear of the procession.

That lovely little Swan float was much admired. Two-year-old Lois Gilbert, occupied the float, which was drawn by Hilda Denny and Wilda Keefe, little daughters of Mrs. Mae Clark Denny and Mr. and Mrs. George Keefe.

Milo Bert Harrison and his little brother, John Redfield Harrison, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Harrison, cunningly dressed as Indian and squaw, the latter with pappoose on her back, marched behind Hiawatha and Laughing Water.

Ferris Byrnes and his cousin, Walter Sturm, of Clyde.

Lessons in Etiquette.

Those who have dined in restaurants or hotels habitually will find that they have fallen into many unpleasant little ways, permissible possibly toward a landlord, but not toward a hostess. They feel that they have the privilege both to criticise openly and to imply criticism either of the food itself or of the way in which it is served. Women who cherish the ambition of making poor, forlorn habitues of hotels happy with "home cooking" have their hopes dashed by this ungracious habit. Let those, too, who have fallen into the habit of dipping a spoon or fork into a glass of water and then wiping it on a napkin before using it beware of those moments when they become deeply absorbed in conversation at the house of a friend or even at the home table. Could any habit be more insulting to a hostess?—Harper's Bazar.

A Stupid Hunter.

Returning from two months spent on a ranch he was telling a story of hunting in the hills with an Englishman.

"All of us were out hunting one day," said he, "and the Englishman shot at everything that moved. If the wind carried a cloud of dust upward, you could depend on 'is ludship to shoot at it. So it happened that he narrowly missed shooting a young woman, who, with her husband, was visiting on the ranch. When our party returned the husband, boiling angry, approached the Englishman and said:

"'Look here, you damned stupid ass, you missed shooting my wife by an inch.'

"'Aw, missed her!' said the Englishman, either astonished or perplexed. 'By an inch, by Jove? Well, old man, I'm sorry, very sorry.'"

Nails in Hard Wood.

It will be found almost impossible to drive thin steel nails into hard wood, for the moment you hit them hard enough to puncture the wood they bend over on themselves.

Many people employ the use of a small gimlet to bore the hole destined to hold the nail, and few people know that if yellow soap is rubbed on the nail it can be driven in the hardest wood with ease.

This trick was learned by a carpenter, who discovered it accidentally.

Now whenever he is working with hard wood he keeps a cake of soap near by and sticks it full of nails, using them as he needs them.

He also has a deep hole cut in the handle of his favorite hammer and keeps it filled with soap in which to stick the nails if the cake of soap is not conveniently near.

Evening Writing Lessons

Beginning tonight, I will conduct a writing class in the Business College rooms, 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock, five evenings each week. A few months spent in careful practice will make any one a good writer, and I guarantee to teach you to write a good hand or refund your tuition. Both Mr. Cook and I will give our very best attention to this class, teaching from both blackboard and pen written copies. I hope to have a class of 75 to 100. Tuition will be $2 per month—less than the price of a picture show per night—and I guarantee to improve your writing or refund your money. Pens, ink and paper kept at the college office. Please tell your friends and be on time tonight.

Yours for good writing,

LOSES TASTE FOR MOSQUITO

Fish Imported to Kill Insect Change Their Diet and Turn to Shrimp.

Citizens of various American districts have been endeavoring to rid their neighborhoods of mosquitoes by stocking their ponds with little imported fish which eat the mosquito larvae. That the plan has its drawbacks is indicated by the following from the Hawaiian Star: "A war of the races is going on in local fresh water and brackish waters and there has been slaughter in the ranks which threatens the extinction of at least one species of Hawaiian fresh water fishes. The tender and toothsome Opu nakea, the little fish which a comparatively short time ago one might buy already cooked and wrapped in leaves in the fish market or from peddling natives, is becoming so scarce that its entire disappearance seems to be only a matter of time. The frogs and the topminnows are accomplishing its downfall, these voracious enemies greedily devouring its spawn.

"The topminnows or mosquito fish, as they are called, are thriving amazingly in the local ponds, but, like the mongoose, have diverted their tastes from the food which it was intended they should subsist on. The mongoose found chicken more to its taste than cane rat and the topminnow's diet seems to have changed from 'skeeter to shrimp. It is true that where there is nothing to eat but mosquito larvae the minnows devour them fast enough, but when shrimps and 'skeeters both figure on the bill of fare both are treated impartially by the ravenous little fish.

"Out Moanalua and Kalihi way, in the streams which empty themselves into the sea and in which shrimps abounded by the million a short time ago, practically none are now to be found. The topminnows have killed them off. In the fish ponds thousands of transparent husks lying along the shore tell the tale of the havoc wrought by the mosquito fish among the opae."

TO TUNNEL ENGLISH CHANNEL

Scheme is Being Revived in Spite of Refusal to Pass Last Bill.

The scheme for a tunnel between England and France is being revived in spite of the emphatic refusal of the last bill which was presented in 1907. But great changes have been brought about since then in relation to the military opposition to the scheme, for the coming of the aeroplane and its rapid development as an implement of war have to some extent removed the idea of danger from invasion by tunnel.

If 11 aeroplanes can cross the channel together, as they did a few weeks ago, there is little reason why an army of them may not do so in the near future if they wished. A tunnel also might under certain circumstances be a help in time of war rather than a danger, as much of our food supply could be brought through it.

The chief advantage, however, of the tunnel would be an increase of trade and tourist traffic between England and France as well as countries beyond France. At present the borings at each side are well over a mile and it is estimated that the whole work could be completed within five years, as there is no hard rock to be pierced. The adoption of electricity instead of steam would also remove one of the original drawbacks.

Exchange of Labor.

Miss Martha Leland Sherwin, daughter of George W. Sherwin of the First National bank, is four years old. She is a very polite little girl—much more so than her brother, Jim, whose age-record barely takes him beyond half-past-one. Being a boy, Jim assumes every prerogative of boyhood and lords it over his elder sister mightily.

In this difficult position Martha has proposed a plan of operation to her mother.

"I'll tell you what let's do, mother," she suggested. "We'll just send Jim down to the bank and then father can stay at home and play with me."—Cleveland Leader.

An Ancient Bet.

Near the ancient country seat of the Carews in Cornwall, England, stands a quaint old church, to the door of which are nailed four horse shoes. These have been in their present position for nearly 500 years. A former member of the Carew family made a wager with a friend that he would ride his horse a mile out to sea in Tor bay and back again. The fact was more difficult than appears at first sight, for the cross-currents are dangerous, even for boats.

He won the bet, however, and nailed the four horse shoes of his steed to the church door to commemorate the performance.

Original Suffragette.

Mrs. Johanne Meyer, the first Danish woman to speak from a platform in behalf of woman suffrage, attended the Universal Race congress recently held in London as the delegate to the Peace Society of Copenhagen. As soon as the congress closed Mrs. Meyer began an inquiry in behalf of the Danish government to ascertain the effect that social and political work in England has had on women. In 1870 Mrs. Meyer founded the first organization for the betterment of women in Denmark. She is now the editor of a paper she founded in 1888.

TRIED TO PASS ON SAME TRACK

Missouri Pacific Freight and Passenger Trains Meet Head On.

SEVEN PASSENGERS WERE KILLED

Army Officers From Near-by Fort Gave Assistance to Injured—Freight Conductor Forgot to Give Orders to Engineer

Omaha, Oct. 16.—Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 105, known as the "Omaha Express," which left Kansas City at 12:40 a. m. for Omaha, collided with an extra southbound fast freight a half mile east of Gilmore Junction, eight miles south of Omaha, killing seven, including the brakeman of the passenger train, and probably fatally injuring four others. Eighteen passengers are known to have received serious, though not necessarily fatal injuries.

A the point of collision the track makes a sharp curve, shutting off the view of the Fort Crook station. It was at this point that E. C. Crawfard, engineer of the freight, caught sight of No. 105, coming at high speed. Crawford, it is said, had no orders in regard to No. 105, but he whistled and slackened speed. When the passenger did not answer he concluded that it was a train on the adjoining Burlington tracks.

When within a few car lengths of each other both crews realized the danger and reversed their engines. The momentum of the passenger, however, was so great that in a moment it was piled high upon the freight engine, which had almost stopped. The crews of both engines jumped and were not dangerously injured.

The impact derailed both engines and telescoped the mail cars onto the passenger coach, in which about 40 people were riding.

The train crew and uninjured passengers worked under the direction of Dr. Colliver of Los Angeles, who was a passenger in the Pullman, until the arrival of the nearby army post medical corps under Maj. Dale and Lieut. Clark. As soon as the extent of the wreck was realized by the army officers a call was sent to Omaha and South Omaha for medical assistance. Dr. A. M. Koenig, Dr. E. L. Delehanty and Dr. F. O. Beck soon arrived together with three nurses from an Omaha hospital.

Maj. Dale and Lieut. Clark of the army medical corps turned the post operating room over to the civilian doctors, who at once began to perform such emergency operations as were needful.

Two squads of soldiers established a guard about the mail cars and kept the gathering crowd back while the hospital corps pushed the work of rescue. Just as the last man was removed from the wreckage a special relief train from Omaha arrived with a corps of railroad surgeons. These together with another band of nurses, rendered all possible assistance.

It was said at the Missouri Pacific station in South Omaha that while Conductor Gross had "signed off" for orders, he had either failed to check the register for No. 105 or had forgotten to transmit the order to his engineer.

J. R. Russ, division superintendent, at once began an investigation into the cause of the wreck. Traffic, which was blocked for several hours, was opened after the wrecking crews of the Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific railroads had labored all afternoon.

Conductor Gross has been in the employ of the Missouri Pacific railway for 21 years; since October 17 1897 as conductor.

Engineer Crawford was first employed by the Missouri Pacific railway as fireman October 3, 1904, and was promoted to engineer October 6, 1908.

WON'T ENDORSE RESUBMISSION

Democratic Editors Meet and Refuse to Go Into Campaign with Liquor Plank in Platform.

Wichita, Kan., Oct., 16.—The Democratic editors of the state, in session here refused to indorse George Hodges of Olathe as the choice for governor. The resolution in favor of Mr. Hodges was introduced by B. W. Murphy of the Witicha Commoner. As there was a bitter fight against it, led by Henderson Marton of Marion, chairman of the stase Democratic committee, the resolution finaly was tabled.

The editors did not take kindly to Mayor Billard of Topeka, and his resubmission platform. No action was taken except that the editors refused to go into the coming campaign with resubmission as the slogan for the Democratic party in Kansas.

Hillsboro, Ind., Oct. 16.—A tornado struck this town demolishing every building on the main street. So far as is known no one was killed, although several are said to have been injured and close escapes were many.

PLAN OF TOBACCO TRUST SETTLED

Outline of Reorganization Scheme to Comply With Court Order.

TO FORM FOURTEEN COMPANIES

Disintegration Proposed by Selling Factories, Brands and Business of Present Corporation to Others.

New York, Oct. 16.—The plan for the dissolution of the American Tobacco company, in compliance with the decision of the United States supreme court decreeing it an illegal combination, officially has just been made public and will be submitted to the United States circuit court of the southern district of New York for approval immediately.

The official plan provides for a division of the American Tobacco company into four companies, no one of which, it is stated, will have a controlling influence. The four companies are the present American Tobacco company which will continue its corporate existence; the Liggett & Myers Tobacco company, which is to be reorganized; the P. Lorillard company, also to be reorganized, and the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, an existing corporation.

Disintegration is to be brought about by selling $115,000,000 of the property of the American Tobacco company, consisting of factories, brands, business and capital stock of tobacco manufacturing companies now owned and controlled by it, to the Liggett & Myers Tobacco company and the P. Lorillard company for cash and securities of the two vendee companies and by distributing to common stockholders of the American Tobacco company two-thirds of the stock of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, now owned by the American Tobacco company.

The plan also provides for distribution in the form of dividends of the securities of the various subsidiary companies controlled by the American Tobacco company, to the American Tobacco company's common stockholders and the division of some of these subsidiary companies, which were held to be illegal combinations, into separate companies having no interest in each other.

It provides further for radical changes in the voting power of the stock, so that the 25 individual defendants who formerly controlled the American Tobacco company will surrender this control.

The net result, according to the plan, will be a restoration of lawful conditions by dividing the business in tobacco and related products heretofore dominated and controlled by the American Tobacco company or companies in which it had held a large or controlling interest among 14 separate and independent companies, no one of them having control of or dominance in the trade as to any of the products.

SUIT IS LORIMER "FRAMEUP"

C. F. Funk Claims Action Against Him Deliberate Attempt to Discredit His Testomony in Inquiry.

Chicago, Oct 16.—Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester Company, who was sued for $25,000 on a charge of having alienated the affections of Mrs. Josephine Henning, says the suit was inspired by Senator William Lorimer.

Mr. Funk denied knowing the Hennings. A short declaration filed in court charged that Funk's acquaintance with Mrs. Henning had begun October 15, 1910, and continued to the present time. Mr. Funk characterized the suit as an effort to discredit him.

"I never have seen nor heard of John Henning nor his wife," he said. "Consequently there is no basis for this suit. The animus of the action is too apparant; it is a 'frame-up' in line with the use of dectives, female decoys and other disreputable efforts to indiscrimate and involve me.

Arkansas Town Burning.

Fort Smith, Ark., Oct. 16.—A telephone message shortly before midnight stated that Bonanza, a town of 800 inhabitants 15 miles east of here, was afire. The operator there telephoned to the local exchange that she was forced to flee as the fire was threatening the exchange.

A Kansas Girl Wounded.

Ottawa, Kan., Oct. 16.—With a gun he had just loaded to go squirrel hunting William Hickox, 14 years old, accidently shot Hazel Lyons, the 6-year-old sister of his hunting companion in the yard of the Lyons home. Several shot entered the little girl's body, but it is believed she will recover.

Burglar Slays Aged Man.

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 16.— Paulis Gardner, an aged groceryman, was shot and instantly killed by a burglar who entered his store at 6:30. Neighbors heard the shot and saw a man run from the store but he made his escape.

MAY HANG EIGHT FOR MURDER

NEGRO BOYS WHO KILLED STUDENT HELD FOR TRIAL.

Missouri Law Holds Anyone Over 14 Years of Age Responsible for Capital Offense.

Kansas City, Oct. 16.—By binding over to the criminal court the eight negro boys charged with the murder of George Johnson, the young veterinary student, there is established a precedent in Jackson county crimial annals both as to the number of persons charged with the murder of one person, and as to the age of a person charged with murder. None of the boys held is over 20 years old.

The boys will be arraigned before Judge Latshaw in the criminal court and according to the several attorneys representing them, they will enter a plea of "not guilty" and stand trial.

If any of the boys are sentenced to hang, another precedent, at least in Jackson county, will be established, as to the youngest person to be hanged in this county. Although some assert that no one under age can be executed, Floyd Jacobs, assistant prosecutor says:

"The law holds that a person 14 years of age or older is responsible for a capital offense. There is nothing in the Missouri statutes that places a minimum age limit for capital punishment. Therefore, any of the boys over 14 years old may be hung."

Owing to the number of lawyers engaged in the case, each representing a different boy or group of boys, it is likely that it will be insisted that the cases be tried separately.

George Johnson, the young student with whose murder they are charged was stabbed to death Priests of Pallas night, near Fifteenth street and the Paseo.

CATHOLICS HONOR A CARDINAL

America's Only Prince of the Church Reaches Fiftieth Year of His Priesthood.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 16.—James Cardinal Gibbons, America's only Prince of the Church, commenced an ecclestical celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of his priesthood and the twenty-fifth anniversary of his elevation to the Cardinalate yesterday. The services will continue during most of the week.

The ecclestical demonstration surpasses any previous gathering of the Catholic clergy ever held in America. Prelates from all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico are housed in the many Catholic buildings of the town and Catholic hospitality has been taxed to such an extent that the priests have been forced to take quarters in the hotels. In deference to the cardinal, today was proclaimed a legal holiday that the ceremonies might be properly observed.

The ceremonies yesterday were peculiarly religious, only members of the Catholic clergy officiating. These included nearly all the American archbishops, besides many hundreds of lower churchmen. The sermon was preached by Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis.

The delegates to the first national convention of the Holy Name Society began their sessions this morning. They include representatives from nearly every state of the middle west and the Atlantic seaboard, and many from the far west and northwest. The convention suspended its sessions this afternoon so that its members might participate in the big procession of Catholic laymen.

FOUND UNKNOWN BODY IN RIVER

Man Taken From Water at Orrick, Mo., Had Been Floating Several Days.

Orrick, Mo., Oct. 16.—The body of a man 35 or 40 years old was found in the Missouri river here, having been in the water four or five days. There was nothing in the man's pockets by which he could be identified. The clothing bore the label of Rothschilds of Kansas City and the shoes bore the label of J. H. Hannon, Garnett, Kan. The man was about 5 feet 9 inches in height, weighed 150 or 160 pounds, had dark hair with a slight touch of gray. There was $1.65 in money in his pockets and a gold watch and a pair of gold rim glasses. The clothing was of good quality. Three of his upper teeth were broken off. A torn piece of paper, apparently part of a deposit slip, was found in a pocket. The body is at the morgue of F. F. Rowland.

Maybray to a Grand Jury.

Leavenworth, Kan., Oct. 16.—J. C. Maybray, head of the Maybray gang of swindlers, was taken to Des Moines, Ia., to appear before the grand jury there. Maybray, who will be released from prison in a few weeks, refused to leave the penitentiary until assured that he might return to Leavenworth whenever he chose.

Ground White With Hail.

Cherryvale, Kan., Oct. 16.—A bad hailstorm, accompanied by a strong wind visited this section. When the storm passed the ground lay white with hailstones, some as large as four inches in circumference.

OKLAHOMA HAS TOO MANY SCHOOLS

Governor Cruce Believes Education is Overdone in State.

EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM WEAKENED

Would Abolish Several of the Schools Now Maintained, in Order to Save the People School Taxes.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Oct. 16.—Gov. Lee Cruce believes that Oklahoma made a great mistake when, in attempting to provide liberally for higher education it overdid the thing and not only weakened its educational system but imposed an excessive burden on the taxpayers. He said regarding this:

"I should like to see a change in Oklahoma's system of higher education. We foolishly established six normal school, two university preparatory schools and six district agricultural schools. The people are groaning now under taxation that is becoming larger year by year, and with no hope of relief unless the people take hold and settle these matters in the right way.

"Certainly four of the normals, both of the preparatory schools and some if not all of the district agritultural schools, should be abolished. This would save the people, to say nothing of appropriations for buildings, not less than $350,000 a year that is being appropriated to maintain them. I have no hope that this legislation could ever be passed in the legislature because, whether purposely done or otherwise, these and our other institutions are so scattered as to enable a majority in both branches of the legislature from among those representatives who come from the counties and districts in which one or more of these institutions are located.

"This is one case in which the people could very profitably to themselves and to the educational interests of the state invoke the initiative, and I for one would like to see that movement started. We could then build a great university, two good normal schools and a good agricultural college. But we are now sapping the very life blood out of these institutions and making impossible the maintenance of any pre-eminently great educational system.

"While I favor retrenchment for fewer and higher educational institutions, I believe larger expenditures should be made for primary education in Oklahoma. I believe in consolidated rural district schools, where at all practicable, and think that a wider diffusion of graded education would produce better citizenship."

Pay Day Law is Valid.

Nevada, Mo., Oct. 16.—Judge B. G. Thurman of Vernon circuit court declared the new semi-monthly pay day law, passed at the last session of the legislature, to be constitutional. The case was brought by two old employes of two companies to test the constitutionality of the law, which has caused so much stir among railway employes and officials.

Doctors for Every Student.

Manhattan, Kan., Oct. 16.—The only college in the United States to adopt the railway plan of hospital assessments is the Kansas agricultural college. Hereafter when a student in the college is ill he may select a physician and receive treatment until he recovers without expense to himself except the required fee of 50 cents a term, or $150 a year.

BOAT DRIFTED NINE DAYS

GASOLINE ENGINE EXPLODED AND BURNED ENGINEER.

Crew and Passengers on Vessel From Nome Starving When Port Was Reached.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 16.—With the 22 passengers and the crew starving, the power schooner Bender Brothers drifted through Cape Flattery and other ships, learning of the plight of those on board, hurried food and water to them.

The Bender Brothers sailed from Nome and the Kuskowell river for Seattle two weeks ago. Nine days ago the gasoline engine which propels the vessel exploded, severely burning the engineer. The boat then was 180 miles off Cape Flattery, and without proper sail equipment slow progress was made toward port.

The boat was not provisioned against such a long delay, and the food and almost all of the water were consumed. Drifting along at a rate of hardly 20 miles a day the passengers and crew hoped to sight a ship but the sea was a waste with not a ship in sight.

When the boat drifted in not a morsel of food was left aboard, and a number of the passengers were so weak they scarcely could stand. To add to the troubles of the boat, Capt. Louis Knatfich became very ill several days ago and the first mate had to take command.

A CORROBORATION.

Of Interest to Maryville Readers.

For months Maryville citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills, by residents of this locality.

Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable?

Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement?

No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time.

The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Maryville reader.

G. S. Kemp, R. F. D. No. 1, King City, Gentry county, Mo., says: "I give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement and I willingly confirm the statement I made in their favor some years ago. This remedy has been of great benefit to me and I advise other kidney sufferers to give it a trial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

There is one sure way to banish catarrh and along with it the disgusting symptoms such as hawking, snuffling and spitting.

Breathe Hyomei, that's all you've got to do. Breathe it a few minutes a few times a day. Breathe it deep into the lungs and see how quickly the sore, germ ridden membrane will clear up and inflammation vanish.

Hyomei is pure antiseptic air, it does not contain morphine, cocaine or other habit forming drugs. It is made from Australian eucalyptus and other antiseptics, and it is rigidly guaranteed for catarrh, asthma, croup, bronchitis, coughs and colds. Complete outfit (inhaler and bottle) $1.00. Separate bottles, if afterward needed, 50 cents at the Orear-Henry Drug Co. and druggists everywhere.

HINTS TO THE HANDICAPPED

Writer in Atlantic Monthly Tells Them How They May Make Best of Life.

Grow up as fast as you can. Cultivate the widest interest you can, and cherish all your friends. Cultivate some artistic talent, for you will find it the most durable of satisfactions, and perhaps one of the surest means of livelihood as well. Achievement is, of course, on the knees of the gods; but you will at least have the thrill of trial, and, after all, not to try is to fail. Taking your disabilities for granted, and assuming constantly that they are being taken for granted, make your social intercourse as broad and as constant as possible. Do not take the world too seriously, nor let too many social conventions oppress you. Keep sweet your sense of humor, and above all do not let any morbid feelings of inferiority creep into your soul. You will find yourself sensitive enough to the sympathy of others, and if you do not find persons who like you and are willing to meet you more than half way, it will be because you have let your disability narrow your vision and shrink up your soul. It will be really your own fault, and not that of your circumstances. In a word, keep looking outward; look out eagerly for those things that interest you, for persons who will interest you and be friends with you, for new interests and for opportunities to express yourself.—Atlantic Monthly.

CANNIBALS WHO CHEW GUM

Traveler Finds the Seris Kindly and Affectionate and Quite Without Deadly Weapons.

Though it seems rather a pity to shatter romantic illusions and myths in a world from which romance (of that kind, anyway) is fading rapidly, yet it must be said that there are only two old, useless rifles in the hands of the tribe, and at the time of our visit only two bows and a couple of quivers full of arrows, not one of which was headed. And now they haven't those, for we bought them for souvenirs.

Among themselves, at any rate, however they may have behaved to strangers in the past, the Seris were as kindly and even affectionate a lot of people as I have ever had the good fortune to encounter. Never did we see a mother or father slap a child. Never was anger displayed or irritation. They were continually sharing with each other the little gifts we made them. Really, you know, when you see a group of alleged cannibals sharing chewing-gum (the first they had ever tasted) from mouth to mouth and enjoying themselves hugely, respect for travelers' tales of blood and thunder goes down a peg or two.—Michael Williams in Outing.

IS DEAN OF ALL INDIANS

Sitting Elk, Mighty Warrior Who Never Killed White Man, Is Oldest Redman.

Oldest of all Indians in the United States, Sitting Elk, former chief of the Ogallalla Sioux, is visiting in Denver, the guest of the white man, against whom he always refused to make war.

For almost a century he has been a leader among his people, but, wiser than other chiefs, he early realized that the red man was doomed and at every opportunity he counseled peace with the palefaces.

He could well afford to do so, for his people knew he was no coward.

"I have never killed a white man," he proudly boasts, "but I have fought many battles, and I have done many brave deeds in my long life of ninety-six years. I was but seventeen when I waylaid and killed my first enemy. That was a very brave deed. Since then I have killed many, many enemies."

Sitting Elk is a total abstainer. He smokes cigarettes, but insists he has none of the other bad habits of the white man. He is childless, the last of his line, but he expects to live for many years more—to be hale and hearty long after he has passed the century mark.

Sitting Elk moves tall and stately among his kinsmen, and puffs his pipe with a complacency unruffled by thoughts of any immediate journey to the happy hunting grounds.

Bright of eye, keen of mind, the old warrior dons paint and feathers for his appearance with the younger members of his tribe in the headlong dashes across the amphitheater at the stock yards, and rides with an abandon which defies the spectator to single him from the reckless redskins who have but one-fourth his years to their credit.

HOUSE WITH NO STAIRS

Pittsburg Man Plans New Residence Embodying Some Very Unique Features.

The new residence which is being built on the Clearview plan at Mount Lebanon, Pittsburg, for A. G. Smith of Pittsburgh, has some features which are unique and probably not embodied in any other residence in this section.

The house is without stairways or steps, the slope idea having been substituted. The grade of this slope is about ten per cent. Entering from the veranda to the large reception hall one's attention is directly drawn to the unique method employed of reaching the upper floor. In the living room, which is probably 20x35 feet, a large concrete fireplace and mantel is the principal feature, with a wide bay window. There are no corners to the house, as each of the four ends of the residence are of the bay type. The only wood used in the construction of the building is to be found in the door sills, windows and floors, the latter of which will be hardwood. The walls of the building are of cement, finished with white cement trimmings. Even the two bathrooms are fitted with cement tubs. In all there are ten rooms. The roof is of concrete, surrounded with a parapet, the porch roofs are of the same type, thus affording second story porches in the front and rear, both of which are fitted up with concrete flower troughs in which blooming flowers are now to be seen even in the unfinished condition of the house. On the front second story porch a fountain is arranged. —Engineering Record.

Durability of Steel.

It has been shown that nearly all the failures of steel occur very early in its history. If a plate or bar of mild steel lasts for a year in service, it may be trusted to last for many years. The most injurious thing is continued bending backward and forward, as in what is called the "panting" of a boiler end. As one authority puts it, steel has a somewhat "tumultuous youth," but "in middle age it is trustworthy, and in old age beyond reproach." In regard to corrosion there is a difference of opinion, some holding that steel corrodes more readily than iron.—Harper's Weekly.

Gathering Fruit.

When gathering fruit, peaches or pears, a clever woman invented a simple device that insured the plucking of fruit without danger of bruising it.

The top was taken off a tin tomato can and the can attached to the end of a broomhandle, so that it formed a cuplike arrangement.

The can is put up underneath the fruit and a slight shake given to detach it from the tree, letting it fall into the can, which is lowered and emptied quickly. Put a can on the end of a clothes prop if the fruit hangs high.

"George Sand."

It was from Leonard Jules Sandeau, the celebrated French novelist and dramatist, born at Aubusson a century ago, that another and far greater writer derived her nom de guerre.

When a young student in Paris Sandeau made the acquaintance of Mme. Dudevant, and during a short-lived friendship they collaborated in a novel, "Rose et Blanche," which was published in 1831. Then they parted, but Mme. Dudevant, while relinquishing Sandeau's friendship, took to herself a portion of his name and elected to be known henceforth as George Sand.

"EIGHTS" ARE THEIR HOODOOS

Postal Clerks Say Stamps of That Denomination Cause Them Much Financial Loss.

When a meek little man stepped up to the stamp window in a branch office and asked for an eight cent stamp he caused as much consternation as if he had demanded "your money or your life."

All the clerks came to the window to take a look at him. They muttered to one another and made strange and fantastic signs, crossed their fingers, knocked on wood and did various other things that are supposed to drive away evil spirits.

"We're just out of eight cent stamps," a clerk finally stammered. "Got lots of two and ones."

"Well, gimme a five and a three," said the meek little man, upon receiving which he paid for them and departed.

"What's the matter with the eights?" queried an inquisitive spectator.

The stamp clerk was still too nervous to answer, but one of the others said, with a smile:

"Eights are hoodoos. None of the small offices handle them if they can help it. It's this way: They are just a wee shade different in color from the ones and it is no infrequent thing for a stamp clerk in a hurry to hand out a lot of eights when ones are asked and paid for. It always costs him seven cents a stamp when he does it. The clerk here the other day, during the rush hour, when the offices are closing, was called upon for a dollar's worth of ones. He handed out a hundred eights instead. Cost him seven dollars. Then he got rid of all the rest of the eights and now he won't have anything to do with eights. Even says 'eaten' instead of 'ate.'"

ODD WAYS OF THE COMMONS

Illustrated by the Imminent Peril of Mr. Pearce, Who Read Newspaper During Session.

A member of the British parliament remarks in London Opinion that the rules of the house of commons are past all understanding, and then proceeds to cite the case of Mr. Pearce, M. P., and the imminent danger in which he one day appeared to be. This was when the sergeant-at-arms, with his terrible sword in hand, rose from his chair and rushed with cyclonic speed in the direction of the mild, meek and altogether unconscious-of-offense member. It was quickly made clear what was the cause of this hasty saber charge by the sergeant. Mr. Pearce had actually been reading a newspaper, and there is no more heinous offense known to parliament. The members when in the chamber are not permitted to read newspapers for any purpose not immediately connected with the debate actually in progress, though one may succeed in doing it surreptitiously by folding the newspaper small and concealing it behind the order paper of the day, much like a boy may nibble at an apple in school, concealing the pippin behind his spelling book. Yet more gross breaches of parliamentary etiquette and decorum may be seen, members even wearing their hats when a fellow member is addressing the house, and even the dearest friends of an orator may go to sleep while he is delivering his choicest periods.

Japanese Fruit Trees.

Among the many ways of their own that the Japanese have for doing is their system of pruning and training fruit trees. The system is called "tana," and consists in training the branches overhead on trellis work made of bamboo or wire supported on wooden posts about five and a half feet high.

This offers advantages in gathering the fruit, and not only serves to protect the trees against wind and storms, but is said to increase production. Only very light pruning is done, and that usually in the wintertime. This system is generally adopted for pears and vines, less often for apples and plums.—Youth's Companion.

Life of the Grapevine.

There are some who contend that the life of the grapevine is longer than that of the oak. It is rare that a wild grapevine is found that has died of old age. Pliny mentions a vine 600 years old. There is a vine at Hampton Court, England, planted in 1769, while here in America there is a wild grapevine on the shores of Mobile Bay, within a mile of Daphne, Ala., commonly known as the "General Jackson" vine, more than 6 feet in circumference at its base. There is a grapevine in Carpenteria, Cal., under which more than eight hundred persons may stand. Its trunk is eight feet in diameter at the base and it has borne as high as ten tons of fruit. It is said that this vine was planted in 1842.

Good Mental Tonic.

As appearance means so much to the average woman, mentally as well as socially, the question often arises, "Is she justified in aiding or improving nature if she sees fit?" Many of our well-known medical men think that "make-up" is as good a mental tonic as anyone can take and greatly advise its use, especially for the girl who has some slight personal defect—a scar, a poor complexion or bloodless lips, for the knowledge of her defects makes her shy and oftentimes sulky and miserable.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and Your Gray Hair Will Quickly Vanish.

Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will offset the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. Nothing has ever been found more effective for this purpose than these two time-honored remedies, but Wyeth, a modern chemist, has combined the two with other ingredients, which makes a delightful dressing for the hair, and which not only removes every trace of dandruff but promotes the growth of the hair. It also stops the hair from falling out, and makes it beautiful.

All druggists are authorized to refund the money if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair and don't resort to old-time hair dyes. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agents, Koch Pharmacy.

There were two sets of judges. One set was Mrs. W. R. Lowry of Hopkins, Miss Eva Houston of Burlington Junction and John Rush of Clearmont. The other set was Prof. Leonard King of Ravenwood, Miss Beulah Russell of Hopkins and Fred Kellogg of Skidmore.

As was predicted, the children's parade and carnival Saturday afternoon was the crowning event of the street fair. It was more, as it is the opinion of many that it far surpassed in beauty anything that has been given in our city, and attracted the biggest crowd of the week.

Maryville people who attended the St. Joseph and Omaha children's parade and carnival, and many out-of-town visitors in Maryville Saturday from those cities said the parade by the Maryville children Saturday was far ahead of St. Joseph and Omaha.

The secret of it is: Maryville has beautiful children and Maryville women know how to do things. The appearance of the children, the floats, the various vehicles, and everything pertaining to it showed that the most painstaking and thoughtful work had been done to make it the success it was.

The babies and little wee toddlers in the parade were the most popular, perhaps. The baby in the first prize buggy sat complacently in her beautiful flowery vehicle with her thumb in her mouth, and that little bunch of sweetness in yellow was so surprised at seeing so many folks along the way that she had to be guided into her proper place quite frequently. She didn't know she was any part of the show. Another little girl, a 3-year-old, stopped to feel of some roses on her doll's buggy, while another wee mother stopped and fixed the sunshade better over her baby's face. The face of every child in the parade looked sweet and some were pretty as flowers.

The whole affair was fine, and every boy and girl and baby conducted themselves in the most delightfully perfect and natural manner.

The committee in charge, County Superintendent Oakerson, Mrs. M. A. Turner, Miss Besse Scott, Mrs. Berney Harris, Miss Ella Noll and Mrs. J. W. Ray, are to be congratulated upon the success of the affair, and they are very grateful to the parents and all who assisted them in any way. They owe much of their success to Mrs. D. N. Scott, Mrs. N. W. Templeton, Mrs. H. L. Raines, Miss Nellie Wray and Miss Bessie Cox.

The parade started from the Empire theater at 2 o'clock, headed by the Maryville and Albany bands.

The Carnival Queen, pretty 10-year-old Marie Cloud, followed in her wonderful white chariot, which was drawn by her pages, Clifford and Ray Hull, John and George Thompson, Eugene and Ralph Yehle and James Protzman.

Her maids of honor supported the canopy of the chariot, and were Alice Peery, Ruth and Gladys Bookman, Gladys Morehouse, Madalyn Strawn, Justine Fraser and Bernice Crawford.

The following children, dressed in white and carrying red pompons, marched behind the chariot: Lucy and Henrietta Allen, Thelma and Opal Craig, Gladys Dragoo, May Kissinger, Velma Higgins, Mabel Garrett, Gladys Culverson, Catherine Harrison, Sadie Aley, Mildred Miller, Janet Lorena Gault, Mildred Elizabeth Hudson, Agnes Isdora Murray, Lena May McMullin, Arvetta Spoor, Iva Hartness, Marie Alden, Eleanor Sawyers, Eva Beaman, Dorothy Snodderly, Geneva Littler, Mary Rosanna Edmunston, Leta Hantz, Iva and Fay Sparks, Gladys Lowrey, Mariam Gray, Mary Ruth Curfman, Mildred Grundy, Beulah McLarnon, Mata Price, Bessie Schaub, Nina Blanche Jones, Amanda and Marinda Sales, Harriet Josephine Miller, Helen Miller of Hopkins, Ruth Miller, Ruth Moon, Mildred Anna Jones, Irene Maxwell, Helen Dragoo, Mary Hawkins, Anice Garten, Inez and Hope Moore, LaVera Rickard, Mamie Borchers, Edith Hartness, Sylvia Frazee, Doris Glover, Grace Foster, Mildred Avitt, Bernice Orcutt, LaCreta Smith, Ruth Olney, Mabel, Evelyn and Laura Margaret Raines, and Walter Allen, Aaron Moore, Gilbert Grundy, Harold Allen, LaVelle Smith, Earl Miller, Clifford Murray, Wilbur Allen, Russell Robey, Ferris Byrnes and his cousins, Walter Sturm and Eddie Felix of Clyde.

The Boy Scouts in the parade were at first intended to march as guard to the queen and her retinue, but it was found necessary to detail them for special duty, and they were stationed along the line to help the little folks, some of whom became so much bewildered by the enthusiasm they aroused in the immense crowd that they did not know what to do or which way to go and were sometimes right at the tearful stage. The kind, brotherly hand and voice of a Boy Scout always came at the right moment, and all went well to the end of the long march, the Barmann & Wolfert carriage factory. The Boy Scouts in line were:

Joe Farmer, Phil Colbert, Vern Pickens, William Van Cleve, Henry Sawyers, Leland Leffler, William Hutchinson, Claude Glass, Forrest Gillam, Leonard Gray, James Gray, Elmer Allen, Orville Carmichael, Martin Penisten, Virgil Borrusch, Irwin Harris, Robert Harris, Toel Lorance, Jennings Jackson, Carl Young, Kenneth Van Cleve, Ellison Frank, Paul Pickens.

The baby buggies, doll buggies, bicycles, tricycles, spring wagons and floats that came after were:

Baby carriage decorated in wisteria, contained Mary, the 17-months-

BODY OF LATE HARRY M. TURNER ARRIVED IN CITY MONDAY.

SICK ONLY A SHORT TIME

Death Was Very Sudden and Unexpected—Burial in Miriam Cemetery.

The body of the late Harry M. Turner of Chicago, whose death occurred Thursday, arrived in Maryville Monday morning on the Burlington train, accompanied by Mrs. Turner and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Holt of Miles City, Mont.

Also Mrs. Turner's nephew, Roland Craig of Clarence, Mo.; and a nephew of Mr. Turner, Martin Railey of Chicago, and Joseph Smith, a member of the stock commission firm of Chicago to which the late Mr. Turner belonged.

Other relatives and friends in the city were: Mr. and Mrs. John B. Swearingen of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wright of Blockton, Ia.; Myron Staples, Rudolph Staples, O. F. Wilson, Charles Walker, Jesse Walker and John Brown of Burlington Junction.

The body was escorted to Miriam cemetery by the Knight Templars of this city and many old friends of Mrs. Turner and her husband.

Mrs. Turner and those in the party who accompanied her to Maryville Monday morning left for Chicago Monday evening.

Mr. Turner's death came very suddenly. He was apparently in fair health since his recovery from a serious surgical operation a year ago. A few days ago, however, he began feeling badly, and on examination it was found necessary to open the wound caused by the operation performed a year ago. It was a minor operation that only took two or three minutes to perform, but he was weaker than anyone knew. He went to the operating table on Thursday afternoon about 5 o'clock with no thought of any serious results. He survived but five minutes. Mr. Turner was about 53 years old. He was born in St. Joseph, Mo., and spent his whole life in this section of Missouri until his removal to Chicago, some twenty years ago. He was always engaged in the live stock commission business and enjoyed a wide acquaintance over the country among stock men. He was eminently successful as a business man, and for a number of years was a member of the McCauslin-Turner-Hogue Live Stock Commission Co. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Mary Stephenson, daughter of the late Ed T. Stephenson of Maryville. They were married thirty-two years ago in this city.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

Rural Mail Carrier Falls Into Creek, But Delivered His Mail.

E. J. Florea, a substitute rural mail carrier from the Hopkins postoffice, met with an accident Saturday afternoon that might have cost him his life, says Monday's St. Joseph Gazette. The recent heavy rains had weakened a bridge that spans the Mowery, a small stream east of Hopkins, and when he drove onto it the structure gave way sufficiently to precipitate him and his team into the stream. He not only escaped injury but was still clinging to the mail bags when he came up out of the water, and finished serving the patrons of his route.

Will Teach in Idaho.

Miss Alice Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ray of South Main street, received a telegram Saturday from St. Anthony, Idaho, stating that she had been elected a member of the faculty of a graded school near there. Miss Ray expects to leave next week to take up her work there. Her brother, Lawrence Ray, went to St. Anthony last week from Golden Prairie, Wyo., where he has been living on his ranch, and has a position in a department store in the Idaho city.

Mr. Valentine Ager of Pekin, Ill., is the guest of his sister, Mrs. John C. White, and family, living west of Maryviile.

Edward Eversole of Kansas City spent Sunday in the city with his sister, Miss Esther Eversole, and his uncle, D. R. Eversole.

Mrs. J. T. Fuqua of Savannah returned to her home Monday morning after a week's visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ellis G. Cook.

THE QUAKERS WIN

Philadelphia won the second game of the world's base ball series Monday afternoon, which was played in Philadelphia. The score was 3 to 1. The batteries were: New York, Marquard, Crandall and Meyers; Philadelphia, Plank and Thomas. The score:

ESCAPED FROM CITY JAIL.

Saturday Night Three Prisoners Broke Out.

Three prisoners that had been locked up in the city jail during the fair week, escaped Saturday night. They were O'Riley, Bert Doran and Henry Hawk. No effort was made to go after the prisoners as the city authorities believed that it was a good thing for them to get out of town.

A little trouble was had Saturday afternoon with the fortune teller. It is claimed that she took a five-dollar bill from the pocketbook of Frank McClain. She paid back the money after some little time, but denied that she ever took it.

WILL BE HERE WEDNESDAY.

Hon. Morrison Pritchett, state grand instructor of the I. O. O. F. lodge, will be in Maryville, October 18 and 19, for the purpose of holding a lodge of instruction. Mr. Pritchett was to have been here last month, but was stricken with appendicitis at Webb City.

THE OPENING NUMBER.

To Be Given Friday Evening at Business College Auditorium.

The opening number of the Redpath college entertainment course will be given in the Business college auditorium Friday night of this week. The sale of tickets has been exceptionally good, and only a few are left. The entertainment is a musical number of real merit, known as "The Ladies' Spanish orchestra." It consists of seven ladies who play, and a gentleman, who is a reader or impersonator. The Redpath bureau is so well and favorably known, and the people they send out are so universally popular and clever that it is needless to say that this entertainment is a good one. Season tickets are on sale at the Bee Hive, Mark's news stand and the college office, and may be bought for $1.50. Single admission tickets on sale after 9 o'clock Wednesday at Reuillard's, 50c. Persons desiring to have season tickets reserved may do so at the college office Wednesday morning after 8 o'clock, by paying 25 cents extra.

ASSESSMENT BOOKS IN.

Polk, Independence and Atchison Are In.

Three assessment books have been turned in at the office of County Clerk George Demott. The first book turned in was Polk township, by Assessor E. F. Hamlin. In Polk township the assessment is about $16,000 less than it was in 1911. For this year the total assessed valuation is $3,607,435, and in 1911 it was $3,623,249.

Atchison township assessment book was turned in by R. Lebonia, assessor. In 1911, the assessment was $736,868, and for this year it was $693,240, or a decrease over last year of $43,628.

In Independence township the assessment is also lower than it was last year. The book was brought in Monday by Assessor George Hepburn. For 1911 it was $797,675, an dfor 1912 it was $788,890.

With Iowa State Band.

Miss Vera Sayler, daughter of Judge and Mrs. J. H. Sayler of this city, who has been engaged with the Comet Amusement company of Red Oak, Ia., the past three years, has commenced an engagement as pianist with the Iowa State Band Concert company, which appeared in Des Moines last week. Miss Sayler is announced on the program as a graduate of the Landon Conservatory of Music and a pupil of Professor Martin Miessler of the Liepsic conservatory. She was a favorite pupil of Mr. Miessler while he was with the Maryville Conservatory, and was an accomplished pianist, a talent that was developed early. The Iowa State band has forty-two members, all artists, and it is certainly a high compliment paid our Maryville young woman to be selected as pianist for the cultured violinist, reader and soloist for this company.

Mrs. W. A. Rickenbrode returned Saturday evening from Trenton, Mo., Where she has been visiting relatives and friends the past two weeks. Mrs. Rickendrode represented the Twentieth Century club in the district meeting there ten days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hepburn and son and family of Hopkins came to Maryville Saturday to attend the children's carnival and visit their daughter, Mrs. D. E. Hotchkin, and family.

FAIR WAS A SUCCESS

WILL PROBABLY HAVE LEFT $200 OR $300.

GOOD ORDERLY CROWDS

And There Was No Trouble of Any Kind—Committee Should Be Given Credit.

The city authorities say that the crowd that was here last week was the best natured good crowd that was ever in the city. There were only a few arrests made for drunkenness, and no arrests were made for stealing or picking pockets. And on Saturday night, carnival night, the crowd was very orderly and there was no roughness or anything of that kind that is so common on carnival night. Everyone had confetti and was throwing it.

It is not known just at this time how the fair came out financially. Some $2,200 was raised by subscription, $500 was taken in during the week from the shows and $600 was taken in from concessions, making a total of $3,300. A statement of the receipts and expenditures will be published in a few days.

It is thought, however, by those that had charge of the fair that probably the committee will be $200 or $300 to the good.

That the street fair was a success everyone declared. Outside of one day, Thursday, we had good weather, and if it hadn't been for the heavy rain of Thursday probably the largest crowd that was ever in the city would have been here. Saturday's crowd was a record breaking one, and for the other days during the week a large crowd was present.

Everyone liked the free attractions and the special features that were given during the week. The entertainment offered was the best that could be offered by any city the size of Maryville, and everyone seemed to have been amply repaid for taking in the street fair.

The committee that had charge deserved a great deal of credit for the success of the fair. They had been working hard for the past month, and to such boosters as Mayor Robey, Jim Andy Ford, R. P. Hosmer, Albert Kuchs, W. F. Phares, E. W. Keck, M. A. Turner, H. L. Raines, Berney Harris, Lawrence Schumacher, Frank Reuillard, Luther Forsyth, F. R. Marcell, R. G. Sanders and a few others full credit should be given for the success of Maryville's big week.

Formerly Lived Here.

William Stockton of Beatrice, Neb., spent Sunday in Maryville the guest of his cousins, Mrs. G. W. Hempstead and Mrs. E. L. Andrews. He went to Stanberry Monday morning on business. Mr. Stockton is a son of Robert Stockton, formerly of this city. He is one of the managers of the Dempsey Mill Manufacturing Co. of Beatrice, and is out on a special business trip.

Ulysses Lloyd has gone to Grant Pass, Ore., to spend the winter.

In a Japanese Temple.

"Asakuse Temple is dedicated to the goddess Kwannon, a tiny image of gold, about two and a half inches high," writes a traveler in Japan. "At the entrance to the temple grounds on either side of the immense gate stand two large and fearful looking figures, guarding the sacred precincts. Hanging outside the wire grating are a number of sandals for their use if they wish to take a walk, and rice is sprinkled about. Each worshiper, before entering the temple, calls at a small building, and after contributing a small amount, washes his hands and rinses his mouth.

"In front of the main shrine is a large aperture in the floor, covered with lattice work, into which the worshiper casts his gift. After clapping his hands to awaken or attract the attention of the god he kneels, but his prayer is only brief. While there is one chief shrine, there are many others under the same roof.

"One shrine especially attracted my attention; it was made of wood, and quite disfigured and worn through the constant rubbing of hands on the spot corresponding to the afflicted portions of the sufferers' bodies."

Best He Could Do.

When Ralph Delmore, who was assisting in staging "The Confession," was giving instructions one day to the actors as to what they should wear during the snow storm in the first act, he said: "I want every one to wear their heaviest overcoats during this scene, as it is supposed to be the coldest night in twenty years. Now, don't forget this." Mr. Delmore repeated this order several times to impress it on the minds of the actors, when one of them, undoubtedly new to the stage and who had no lines at all to speak, approached him. "I have no overcoat, Mr. Delmore, but suppose I wear my heavy flannel underwear?"—Kansas City Star.

One Text Wasn't Popular.

The president's pastor, Dr. U. S. G. Pierce, who is also chaplain of the senate, used to spend his summers camping in Colorado, where a party of cowboys elected him their "chaplain."

When they were clearing their dance hall preparatory to his holding his first Sunday services therein, the clergyman called one of their leaders aside and sounded him on the subjects which might be most appropriate for a sermon.

"Mosten anything you're a mind to say 'll do, dominie," answered the cowboy, "if you'll just cut out the prodigal son. That's about the only Bible text the boys is sore on."—Philadelphia Record.

old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Dougan of Skidmore. Wheeled by Marguerite Cummins.

Baby carriage, decorated in water lilies, contained Virginia Belle, the 11-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Manning Walker of Maryville. Wheeled by Mary Carpenter.

Baby carriage, decorated in pink and white festooning and ribbons, contained Walter Ritchie Mutz, the 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Mutz. Wheeled by Mildred Shinabarger.

Little Miss Hattie Mae Taylor, as a French maid, wheeled her youngest nephew, Henry Moore, 6-months-old, in a baby carriage decorated in pink and white roses and led her 3-year-old niece, Sara Lee Taylor, who carried a pink and white parasol.

Marian Sanders, with her doll in its buggy, decorated in lavender crysanthemums and lavender tulle bows. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Sanders.

Augusta Edwards, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. A. Edwards, with doll in buggy decorated in red and white roses.

Winona Lee Greeneish, with doll in buggy covered with festoons in blue and white.

Little Elizabeth Flint, doll in buggy, trimmed in blue and white rosettes.

Bettie Harris, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Berney Harris, wheeled her dog and doll in buggy trimmed in green crepe paper and pink roses.

Ramona John, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. John, had her doll buggy in white festooning and salvia and carried a white parasol decorated in salvia.

Sterril Bishop, daughter of Mrs. Alpha Colvin Bishop, had doll buggy in red and white festooning.

Audrey and Annette Stiwalt, little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stilwalt, each had their doll buggies in pale blue.

Eva Margaret Frank, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Frank, wheeled her beloved rag doll in its buggy, all in decorations of white.

Harriet Miller, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Miller, wheeled her teddy bear in her doll buggy, with red and white decorations.

The pretty little miniature wedding party float, containing bride and groom, minister and little ring bearer, was the work of Mrs. D. N. Scott. The float was drawn by Martha Helpley and Marie Davenport, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Helpley and Mrs. Clara Davenport.

Emma LaVeta Martin, 2½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Martin, won the first prize. Her doll buggy, doll and herself were dressed in sky blue and gold. There were 350 tea roses in blue and gold on her doll's go-cart.

Ruth Louise Jensen, the 23-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jensen, won the second prize. She was all in yellow, also her doll, and her doll buggy was covered with yellow crysanthemums. Ruth Louise is a cousin of Emma LaVeta Martin, their mothers being sisters.

Marie Kissigner wheeled her large doll in a go-cart decorated in red and white roses.

Wilma Ball wheeled her doll in its go-cart with red and white festoons.

Lois Helen Brown was all in white and wheeled her doll in its buggy, also in decorations of white crepe paper.

Julian Parvin, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Parvin, in white suit, rode his decorated bicycle, also in white, representing the sun (son) moon and seven stars.

Robert Whitchurch, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Whitchurch, wearing a white suit, rode his bicycle decorated in red and white. His little sister, Virginia, in suit of red, stood on the step at the back of the wheel.

Cecil Maul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Maul, was dressed as a knight and rode his bicycle in red and white.

Little Mildred Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace, rode her tricycle, and was all in white with silver trimmings, winning second prize.

Little Margaret Dietz rode her tricycle in decorations of red and white and blue.

Master Francis Parle, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Parle, won first prize with his tricycle, which was decorated in wax flowers, red roses and carnations.

Master Fay Allen drew a little two-wheeled cart decorated in red and white, containing baby Helen Marie Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Murray.

Little Joe Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Berney Harris, was "Little Boy Blue," and also blew his horn. His suit and his bicycle were all in blue.

Berney Harris, Jr., and Martin Lewis, Jr., rode bicycles in decorations of red and white.

John Costello, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ed Costello, was a prize winner with his bicycle, which was decorated in red dahlias and coxcomb.

Merrill Reece, express wagon in decorations of red and white.

Vodre Merrel Willoughby, drew his express wagon containing his pug dog, Tootsie, all decorated in the street fair colors.

Frank Martin, Jr., drew his express wagon containing Peter, Peter, Punkin Eater and his wife, all highly decorated.

Harold Miller and Donald Herndon, small sons of Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Miller and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Herndon, drew Harold's baby sister, Leola, in his express wagon, decorated with red and yellow oak leaves.

Master Robert Westfall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Westfall, dressed in white suit and red cap, drew his express wagon in red and white decorations.

Master Dorsey Lee Childress, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Childress, drew a splendid prairie schooner in miniature, containing his 2-year-old cousin, William Brams. A chicken coop was fastened on the back of the schooner, buckets under it and a gun inside.

Master Davie Hudson drew his express wagon, which was decorated in red and white.

Cecil Spoor, the 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Spoor, was much admired. His express wagon contained a fair looking man made of a squash, and every vegetable that grows, we think, had a place in that wagon. Cecil looked the typical "barefoot boy." He was barefooted, had on overalls, hickory shirt and big straw hat.

The Hiawatha float was indeed unique. Louise Peery, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Peery, and Forrest Smith, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur C. Smith, were Minnehaha and Hiawatha, seated on their tricycles around which a canoe made of brown building paper had been built. Minnehaha guided the tricycle while Hiawatha sat in the rear and plied the oars. They were in excellent costume, wigs and all, and were so well painted that no one knew them.

A float of Jack Frost, or the Snow man, was that of Victor Moore, Jr. Dressed in soft downy white from head to foot with snow falling all around him, the little fellow hurried down the parade in his automobile.

Raymond and Mary Oakerson, little son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Oakerson of Skidmore, represented America and Canada. America sat in the express wagon very gracefully while Canada eagerly marched with a movement that will sure bring reciprocity.

"Madam Butterfly," represented by Dorothy McDonald, was a very pretty float, drawn by Doris Marie Goforth, Anna Marie Price, Bernice Crawford and Faye Farmer. This float was the work of Mrs. Mark Turner.

Little Katharine Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gray, rode her tricycle, which was hidden in red and white roses.

"The Lion Tamer," in a cage armed with a big revolver he had to hold with both hands, was quite an attraction. He was Robert Mearl Godsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Godsey. The lion was his beautiful large fine pet, the family cat. The cage was on his express wagon, drawn by his little brother, Townsend Godsey, and their playmate, Carlos Yehle, dressed in regular Indian costumes. The make-up was great.

Bryan Sells, driving his dog, Sport, to his express wagon, decorated in flags, brought up the rear of the procession.

That lovely little Swan float was much admired. Two-year-old Lois Gilbert, occupied the float, which was drawn by Hilda Denny and Wilda Keefe, little daughters of Mrs. Mae Clark Denny and Mr. and Mrs. George Keefe.

Milo Bert Harrison and his little brother, John Redfield Harrison, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Harrison, cunningly dressed as Indian and squaw, the latter with pappoose on her back, marched behind Hiawatha and Laughing Water.

Ferris Byrnes and his cousin, Walter Sturm, of Clyde.

Lessons in Etiquette.

Those who have dined in restaurants or hotels habitually will find that they have fallen into many unpleasant little ways, permissible possibly toward a landlord, but not toward a hostess. They feel that they have the privilege both to criticise openly and to imply criticism either of the food itself or of the way in which it is served. Women who cherish the ambition of making poor, forlorn habitues of hotels happy with "home cooking" have their hopes dashed by this ungracious habit. Let those, too, who have fallen into the habit of dipping a spoon or fork into a glass of water and then wiping it on a napkin before using it beware of those moments when they become deeply absorbed in conversation at the house of a friend or even at the home table. Could any habit be more insulting to a hostess?—Harper's Bazar.

A Stupid Hunter.

Returning from two months spent on a ranch he was telling a story of hunting in the hills with an Englishman.

"All of us were out hunting one day," said he, "and the Englishman shot at everything that moved. If the wind carried a cloud of dust upward, you could depend on 'is ludship to shoot at it. So it happened that he narrowly missed shooting a young woman, who, with her husband, was visiting on the ranch. When our party returned the husband, boiling angry, approached the Englishman and said:

"'Look here, you damned stupid ass, you missed shooting my wife by an inch.'

"'Aw, missed her!' said the Englishman, either astonished or perplexed. 'By an inch, by Jove? Well, old man, I'm sorry, very sorry.'"

Nails in Hard Wood.

It will be found almost impossible to drive thin steel nails into hard wood, for the moment you hit them hard enough to puncture the wood they bend over on themselves.

Many people employ the use of a small gimlet to bore the hole destined to hold the nail, and few people know that if yellow soap is rubbed on the nail it can be driven in the hardest wood with ease.

This trick was learned by a carpenter, who discovered it accidentally.

Now whenever he is working with hard wood he keeps a cake of soap near by and sticks it full of nails, using them as he needs them.

He also has a deep hole cut in the handle of his favorite hammer and keeps it filled with soap in which to stick the nails if the cake of soap is not conveniently near.

Evening Writing Lessons

Beginning tonight, I will conduct a writing class in the Business College rooms, 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock, five evenings each week. A few months spent in careful practice will make any one a good writer, and I guarantee to teach you to write a good hand or refund your tuition. Both Mr. Cook and I will give our very best attention to this class, teaching from both blackboard and pen written copies. I hope to have a class of 75 to 100. Tuition will be $2 per month—less than the price of a picture show per night—and I guarantee to improve your writing or refund your money. Pens, ink and paper kept at the college office. Please tell your friends and be on time tonight.

Yours for good writing,

Penman Maryville Business College.

LOSES TASTE FOR MOSQUITO

Fish Imported to Kill Insect Change Their Diet and Turn to Shrimp.

Citizens of various American districts have been endeavoring to rid their neighborhoods of mosquitoes by stocking their ponds with little imported fish which eat the mosquito larvae. That the plan has its drawbacks is indicated by the following from the Hawaiian Star: "A war of the races is going on in local fresh water and brackish waters and there has been slaughter in the ranks which threatens the extinction of at least one species of Hawaiian fresh water fishes. The tender and toothsome Opu nakea, the little fish which a comparatively short time ago one might buy already cooked and wrapped in leaves in the fish market or from peddling natives, is becoming so scarce that its entire disappearance seems to be only a matter of time. The frogs and the topminnows are accomplishing its downfall, these voracious enemies greedily devouring its spawn.

"The topminnows or mosquito fish, as they are called, are thriving amazingly in the local ponds, but, like the mongoose, have diverted their tastes from the food which it was intended they should subsist on. The mongoose found chicken more to its taste than cane rat and the topminnow's diet seems to have changed from 'skeeter to shrimp. It is true that where there is nothing to eat but mosquito larvae the minnows devour them fast enough, but when shrimps and 'skeeters both figure on the bill of fare both are treated impartially by the ravenous little fish.

"Out Moanalua and Kalihi way, in the streams which empty themselves into the sea and in which shrimps abounded by the million a short time ago, practically none are now to be found. The topminnows have killed them off. In the fish ponds thousands of transparent husks lying along the shore tell the tale of the havoc wrought by the mosquito fish among the opae."

TO TUNNEL ENGLISH CHANNEL

Scheme is Being Revived in Spite of Refusal to Pass Last Bill.

The scheme for a tunnel between England and France is being revived in spite of the emphatic refusal of the last bill which was presented in 1907. But great changes have been brought about since then in relation to the military opposition to the scheme, for the coming of the aeroplane and its rapid development as an implement of war have to some extent removed the idea of danger from invasion by tunnel.

If 11 aeroplanes can cross the channel together, as they did a few weeks ago, there is little reason why an army of them may not do so in the near future if they wished. A tunnel also might under certain circumstances be a help in time of war rather than a danger, as much of our food supply could be brought through it.

The chief advantage, however, of the tunnel would be an increase of trade and tourist traffic between England and France as well as countries beyond France. At present the borings at each side are well over a mile and it is estimated that the whole work could be completed within five years, as there is no hard rock to be pierced. The adoption of electricity instead of steam would also remove one of the original drawbacks.

Exchange of Labor.

Miss Martha Leland Sherwin, daughter of George W. Sherwin of the First National bank, is four years old. She is a very polite little girl—much more so than her brother, Jim, whose age-record barely takes him beyond half-past-one. Being a boy, Jim assumes every prerogative of boyhood and lords it over his elder sister mightily.

In this difficult position Martha has proposed a plan of operation to her mother.

"I'll tell you what let's do, mother," she suggested. "We'll just send Jim down to the bank and then father can stay at home and play with me."—Cleveland Leader.

An Ancient Bet.

Near the ancient country seat of the Carews in Cornwall, England, stands a quaint old church, to the door of which are nailed four horse shoes. These have been in their present position for nearly 500 years. A former member of the Carew family made a wager with a friend that he would ride his horse a mile out to sea in Tor bay and back again. The fact was more difficult than appears at first sight, for the cross-currents are dangerous, even for boats.

He won the bet, however, and nailed the four horse shoes of his steed to the church door to commemorate the performance.

Original Suffragette.

Mrs. Johanne Meyer, the first Danish woman to speak from a platform in behalf of woman suffrage, attended the Universal Race congress recently held in London as the delegate to the Peace Society of Copenhagen. As soon as the congress closed Mrs. Meyer began an inquiry in behalf of the Danish government to ascertain the effect that social and political work in England has had on women. In 1870 Mrs. Meyer founded the first organization for the betterment of women in Denmark. She is now the editor of a paper she founded in 1888.

Missouri Pacific Freight and Passenger Trains Meet Head On.

Army Officers From Near-by Fort Gave Assistance to Injured—Freight Conductor Forgot to Give Orders to Engineer

Omaha, Oct. 16.—Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 105, known as the "Omaha Express," which left Kansas City at 12:40 a. m. for Omaha, collided with an extra southbound fast freight a half mile east of Gilmore Junction, eight miles south of Omaha, killing seven, including the brakeman of the passenger train, and probably fatally injuring four others. Eighteen passengers are known to have received serious, though not necessarily fatal injuries.

A the point of collision the track makes a sharp curve, shutting off the view of the Fort Crook station. It was at this point that E. C. Crawford, engineer of the freight, caught sight of No. 105, coming at high speed. Crawford, it is said, had no orders in regard to No. 105, but he whistled and slackened speed. When the passenger did not answer he concluded that it was a train on the adjoining Burlington tracks.

When within a few car lengths of each other both crews realized the danger and reversed their engines. The momentum of the passenger, however, was so great that in a moment it was piled high upon the freight engine, which had almost stopped. The crews of both engines jumped and were not dangerously injured.

The impact derailed both engines and telescoped the mail cars onto the passenger coach, in which about 40 people were riding.

The train crew and uninjured passengers worked under the direction of Dr. Colliver of Los Angeles, who was a passenger in the Pullman, until the arrival of the nearby army post medical corps under Maj. Dale and Lieut. Clark. As soon as the extent of the wreck was realized by the army officers a call was sent to Omaha and South Omaha for medical assistance. Dr. A. M. Koenig, Dr. E. L. Delehanty and Dr. F. O. Beck soon arrived together with three nurses from an Omaha hospital.

Maj. Dale and Lieut. Clark of the army medical corps turned the post operating room over to the civilian doctors, who at once began to perform such emergency operations as were needful.

Two squads of soldiers established a guard about the mail cars and kept the gathering crowd back while the hospital corps pushed the work of rescue. Just as the last man was removed from the wreckage a special relief train from Omaha arrived with a corps of railroad surgeons. These together with another band of nurses, rendered all possible assistance.

It was said at the Missouri Pacific station in South Omaha that while Conductor Gross had "signed off" for orders, he had either failed to check the register for No. 105 or had forgotten to transmit the order to his engineer.

J. R. Russ, division superintendent, at once began an investigation into the cause of the wreck. Traffic, which was blocked for several hours, was opened after the wrecking crews of the Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific railroads had labored all afternoon.

Conductor Gross has been in the employ of the Missouri Pacific railway for 21 years; since October 17 1897 as conductor.

Engineer Crawford was first employed by the Missouri Pacific railway as fireman October 3, 1904, and was promoted to engineer October 6, 1908.

WON'T ENDORSE RESUBMISSION

Democratic Editors Meet and Refuse to Go Into Campaign with Liquor Plank in Platform.

Wichita, Kan., Oct., 16.—The Democratic editors of the state, in session here refused to indorse George Hodges of Olathe as the choice for governor. The resolution in favor of Mr. Hodges was introduced by B. W. Murphy of the Witicha Commoner. As there was a bitter fight against it, led by Henderson Marton of Marion, chairman of the stase Democratic committee, the resolution finaly was tabled.

The editors did not take kindly to Mayor Billard of Topeka, and his resubmission platform. No action was taken except that the editors refused to go into the coming campaign with resubmission as the slogan for the Democratic party in Kansas.

Tornado in Indiana.

Hillsboro, Ind., Oct. 16.—A tornado struck this town demolishing every building on the main street. So far as is known no one was killed, although several are said to have been injured and close escapes were many.

PLAN OF TOBACCO TRUST SETTLED

Outline of Reorganization Scheme to Comply With Court Order.

TO FORM FOURTEEN COMPANIES

Disintegration Proposed by Selling Factories, Brands and Business of Present Corporation to Others.

New York, Oct. 16.—The plan for the dissolution of the American Tobacco company, in compliance with the decision of the United States supreme court decreeing it an illegal combination, officially has just been made public and will be submitted to the United States circuit court of the southern district of New York for approval immediately.

The official plan provides for a division of the American Tobacco company into four companies, no one of which, it is stated, will have a controlling influence. The four companies are the present American Tobacco company which will continue its corporate existence; the Liggett & Myers Tobacco company, which is to be reorganized; the P. Lorillard company, also to be reorganized, and the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, an existing corporation.

Disintegration is to be brought about by selling $115,000,000 of the property of the American Tobacco company, consisting of factories, brands, business and capital stock of tobacco manufacturing companies now owned and controlled by it, to the Liggett & Myers Tobacco company and the P. Lorillard company for cash and securities of the two vendee companies and by distributing to common stockholders of the American Tobacco company two-thirds of the stock of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company, now owned by the American Tobacco company.

The plan also provides for distribution in the form of dividends of the securities of the various subsidiary companies controlled by the American Tobacco company, to the American Tobacco company's common stockholders and the division of some of these subsidiary companies, which were held to be illegal combinations, into separate companies having no interest in each other.

It provides further for radical changes in the voting power of the stock, so that the 25 individual defendants who formerly controlled the American Tobacco company will surrender this control.

The net result, according to the plan, will be a restoration of lawful conditions by dividing the business in tobacco and related products heretofore dominated and controlled by the American Tobacco company or companies in which it had held a large or controlling interest among 14 separate and independent companies, no one of them having control of or dominance in the trade as to any of the products.

SUIT IS LORIMER "FRAMEUP"

C. F. Funk Claims Action Against Him Deliberate Attempt to Discredit His Testomony in Inquiry.

Chicago, Oct 16.—Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester Company, who was sued for $25,000 on a charge of having alienated the affections of Mrs. Josephine Henning, says the suit was inspired by Senator William Lorimer.

Mr. Funk denied knowing the Hennings. A short declaration filed in court charged that Funk's acquaintance with Mrs. Henning had begun October 15, 1910, and continued to the present time. Mr. Funk characterized the suit as an effort to discredit him.

"I never have seen nor heard of John Henning nor his wife," he said. "Consequently there is no basis for this suit. The animus of the action is too apparant; it is a 'frame-up' in line with the use of dectives, female decoys and other disreputable efforts to indiscrimate and involve me.

Arkansas Town Burning.

Fort Smith, Ark., Oct. 16.—A telephone message shortly before midnight stated that Bonanza, a town of 800 inhabitants 15 miles east of here, was afire. The operator there telephoned to the local exchange that she was forced to flee as the fire was threatening the exchange.

A Kansas Girl Wounded.

Ottawa, Kan., Oct. 16.—With a gun he had just loaded to go squirrel hunting William Hickox, 14 years old, accidently shot Hazel Lyons, the 6-year-old sister of his hunting companion in the yard of the Lyons home. Several shot entered the little girl's body, but it is believed she will recover.

Burglar Slays Aged Man.

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 16.— Paulis Gardner, an aged groceryman, was shot and instantly killed by a burglar who entered his store at 6:30. Neighbors heard the shot and saw a man run from the store but he made his escape.

MAY HANG EIGHT FOR MURDER

NEGRO BOYS WHO KILLED STUDENT HELD FOR TRIAL.

Missouri Law Holds Anyone Over 14 Years of Age Responsible for Capital Offense.

Kansas City, Oct. 16.—By binding over to the criminal court the eight negro boys charged with the murder of George Johnson, the young veterinary student, there is established a precedent in Jackson county crimial annals both as to the number of persons charged with the murder of one person, and as to the age of a person charged with murder. None of the boys held is over 20 years old.

The boys will be arraigned before Judge Latshaw in the criminal court and according to the several attorneys representing them, they will enter a plea of "not guilty" and stand trial.

If any of the boys are sentenced to hang, another precedent, at least in Jackson county, will be established, as to the youngest person to be hanged in this county. Although some assert that no one under age can be executed, Floyd Jacobs, assistant prosecutor says:

"The law holds that a person 14 years of age or older is responsible for a capital offense. There is nothing in the Missouri statutes that places a minimum age limit for capital punishment. Therefore, any of the boys over 14 years old may be hung."

Owing to the number of lawyers engaged in the case, each representing a different boy or group of boys, it is likely that it will be insisted that the cases be tried separately.

George Johnson, the young student with whose murder they are charged was stabbed to death Priests of Pallas night, near Fifteenth street and the Paseo.

CATHOLICS HONOR A CARDINAL

America's Only Prince of the Church Reaches Fiftieth Year of His Priesthood.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 16.—James Cardinal Gibbons, America's only Prince of the Church, commenced an ecclestical celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of his priesthood and the twenty-fifth anniversary of his elevation to the Cardinalate yesterday. The services will continue during most of the week.

The ecclestical demonstration surpasses any previous gathering of the Catholic clergy ever held in America. Prelates from all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico are housed in the many Catholic buildings of the town and Catholic hospitality has been taxed to such an extent that the priests have been forced to take quarters in the hotels. In deference to the cardinal, today was proclaimed a legal holiday that the ceremonies might be properly observed.

The ceremonies yesterday were peculiarly religious, only members of the Catholic clergy officiating. These included nearly all the American archbishops, besides many hundreds of lower churchmen. The sermon was preached by Archbishop Glennon of St. Louis.

The delegates to the first national convention of the Holy Name Society began their sessions this morning. They include representatives from nearly every state of the middle west and the Atlantic seaboard, and many from the far west and northwest. The convention suspended its sessions this afternoon so that its members might participate in the big procession of Catholic laymen.

FOUND UNKNOWN BODY IN RIVER

Man Taken From Water at Orrick, Mo., Had Been Floating Several Days.

Orrick, Mo., Oct. 16.—The body of a man 35 or 40 years old was found in the Missouri river here, having been in the water four or five days. There was nothing in the man's pockets by which he could be identified. The clothing bore the label of Rothschilds of Kansas City and the shoes bore the label of J. H. Hannon, Garnett, Kan. The man was about 5 feet 9 inches in height, weighed 150 or 160 pounds, had dark hair with a slight touch of gray. There was $1.65 in money in his pockets and a gold watch and a pair of gold rim glasses. The clothing was of good quality. Three of his upper teeth were broken off. A torn piece of paper, apparently part of a deposit slip, was found in a pocket. The body is at the morgue of F. F. Rowland.

Maybray to a Grand Jury.

Leavenworth, Kan., Oct. 16.—J. C. Maybray, head of the Maybray gang of swindlers, was taken to Des Moines, Ia., to appear before the grand jury there. Maybray, who will be released from prison in a few weeks, refused to leave the penitentiary until assured that he might return to Leavenworth whenever he chose.

Ground White With Hail.

Cherryvale, Kan., Oct. 16.—A bad hailstorm, accompanied by a strong wind visited this section. When the storm passed the ground lay white with hailstones, some as large as four inches in circumference.

OKLAHOMA HAS TOO MANY SCHOOLS

Governor Cruce Believes Education is Overdone in State.

EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM WEAKENED

Would Abolish Several of the Schools Now Maintained, in Order to Save the People School Taxes.

Oklahoma City, Ok., Oct. 16.—Gov. Lee Cruce believes that Oklahoma made a great mistake when, in attempting to provide liberally for higher education it overdid the thing and not only weakened its educational system but imposed an excessive burden on the taxpayers. He said regarding this:

"I should like to see a change in Oklahoma's system of higher education. We foolishly established six normal school, two university preparatory schools and six district agricultural schools. The people are groaning now under taxation that is becoming larger year by year, and with no hope of relief unless the people take hold and settle these matters in the right way.

"Certainly four of the normals, both of the preparatory schools and some if not all of the district agritultural schools, should be abolished. This would save the people, to say nothing of appropriations for buildings, not less than $350,000 a year that is being appropriated to maintain them. I have no hope that this legislation could ever be passed in the legislature because, whether purposely done or otherwise, these and our other institutions are so scattered as to enable a majority in both branches of the legislature from among those representatives who come from the counties and districts in which one or more of these institutions are located.

"This is one case in which the people could very profitably to themselves and to the educational interests of the state invoke the initiative, and I for one would like to see that movement started. We could then build a great university, two good normal schools and a good agricultural college. But we are now sapping the very life blood out of these institutions and making impossible the maintenance of any pre-eminently great educational system.

"While I favor retrenchment for fewer and higher educational institutions, I believe larger expenditures should be made for primary education in Oklahoma. I believe in consolidated rural district schools, where at all practicable, and think that a wider diffusion of graded education would produce better citizenship."

Pay Day Law is Valid.

Nevada, Mo., Oct. 16.—Judge B. G. Thurman of Vernon circuit court declared the new semi-monthly pay day law, passed at the last session of the legislature, to be constitutional. The case was brought by two old employes of two companies to test the constitutionality of the law, which has caused so much stir among railway employes and officials.

Doctors for Every Student.

Manhattan, Kan., Oct. 16.—The only college in the United States to adopt the railway plan of hospital assessments is the Kansas agricultural college. Hereafter when a student in the college is ill he may select a physician and receive treatment until he recovers without expense to himself except the required fee of 50 cents a term, or $150 a year.

BOAT DRIFTED NINE DAYS

GASOLINE ENGINE EXPLODED AND BURNED ENGINEER.

Crew and Passengers on Vessel From Nome Starving When Port Was Reached.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 16.—With the 22 passengers and the crew starving, the power schooner Bender Brothers drifted through Cape Flattery and other ships, learning of the plight of those on board, hurried food and water to them.

The Bender Brothers sailed from Nome and the Kuskowell river for Seattle two weeks ago. Nine days ago the gasoline engine which propels the vessel exploded, severely burning the engineer. The boat then was 150 miles off Cape Flattery, and without proper sail equipment slow progress was made toward port.

The boat was not provisioned against such a long delay, and the food and almost all of the water were consumed. Drifting along at a rate of hardly 20 miles a day the passengers and crew hoped to sight a ship but the sea was a waste with not a ship in sight.

When the boat drifted in not a morsel of food was left aboard, and a number of the passengers were so weak they scarcely could stand. To add to the troubles of the boat, Capt. Louis Knatfich became very ill several days ago and the first mate had to take command.

A CORROBORATION.

Of Interest to Maryville Readers.

For months Maryville citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills, by residents of this locality.

Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable?

Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement?

No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time.

The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Maryville reader.

G. S. Kemp, R. F. D. No. 1, King City, Gentry county, Mo., says: "I give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement and I willingly confirm the statement I made in their favor some years ago. This remedy has been of great benefit to me and I advise other kidney sufferers to give it a trial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

HINTS TO THE HANDICAPPED

Writer in Atlantic Monthly Tells Them How They May Make Best of Life.

Grow up as fast as you can. Cultivate the widest interest you can, and cherish all your friends. Cultivate some artistic talent, for you will find it the most durable of satisfactions, and perhaps one of the surest means of livelihood as well. Achievement is, of course, on the knees of the gods; but you will at least have the thrill of trial, and, after all, not to try is to fail. Taking your disabilities for granted, and assuming constantly that they are being taken for granted, make your social intercourse as broad and as constant as possible. Do not take the world too seriously, nor let too many social conventions oppress you. Keep sweet your sense of humor, and above all do not let any morbid feelings of inferiority creep into your soul. You will find yourself sensitive enough to the sympathy of others, and if you do not find persons who like you and are willing to meet you more than half way, it will be because you have let your disability narrow your vision and shrink up your soul. It will be really your own fault, and not that of your circumstances. In a word, keep looking outward; look out eagerly for those things that interest you, for persons who will interest you and be friends with you, for new interests and for opportunities to express yourself.—Atlantic Monthly.

CANNIBALS WHO CHEW GUM

Traveler Finds the Seris Kindly and Affectionate and Quite Without Deadly Weapons.

Though it seems rather a pity to shatter romantic illusions and myths in a world from which romance (of that kind, anyway) is fading rapidly, yet it must be said that there are only two old, useless rifles in the hands of the tribe, and at the time of our visit only two bows and a couple of quivers full of arrows, not one of which was headed. And now they haven't those, for we bought them for souvenirs.

Among themselves, at any rate, however they may have behaved to strangers in the past, the Seris were as kindly and even affectionate a lot of people as I have ever had the good fortune to encounter. Never did we see a mother or father slap a child. Never was anger displayed or irritation. They were continually sharing with each other the little gifts we made them. Really, you know, when you see a group of alleged cannibals sharing chewing-gum (the first they had ever tasted) from mouth to mouth and enjoying themselves hugely, respect for travelers' tales of blood and thunder goes down a peg or two.—Michael Williams in Outing.

IS DEAN OF ALL INDIANS

Sitting Elk, Mighty Warrior Who Never Killed White Man, Is Oldest Redman.

Oldest of all Indians in the United States, Sitting Elk, former chief of the Ogallalla Sioux, is visiting in Denver, the guest of the white man, against whom he always refused to make war.

For almost a century he has been a leader among his people, but, wiser than other chiefs, he early realized that the red man was doomed and at every opportunity he counseled peace with the palefaces.

He could well afford to do so, for his people knew he was no coward.

"I have never killed a white man," he proudly boasts, "but I have fought many battles, and I have done many brave deeds in my long life of ninety-six years. I was but seventeen when I waylaid and killed my first enemy. That was a very brave deed. Since then I have killed many, many enemies."

Sitting Elk is a total abstainer. He smokes cigarettes, but insists he has none of the other bad habits of the white man. He is childless, the last of his line, but he expects to live for many years more—to be hale and hearty long after he has passed the century mark.

Sitting Elk moves tall and stately among his kinsmen, and puffs his pipe with a complacency unruffled by thoughts of any immediate journey to the happy hunting grounds.

Bright of eye, keen of mind, the old warrior dons paint and feathers for his appearance with the younger members of his tribe in the headlong dashes across the amphitheater at the stock yards, and rides with an abandon which defies the spectator to single him from the reckless redskins who have but one-fourth his years to their credit.

HOUSE WITH NO STAIRS

Pittsburg Man Plans New Residence Embodying Some Very Unique Features.

The new residence which is being built on the Clearview plan at Mount Lebanon, Pittsburg, for A. G. Smith of Pittsburgh, has some features which are unique and probably not embodied in any other residence in this section.

The house is without stairways or steps, the slope idea having been substituted. The grade of this slope is about ten per cent. Entering from the veranda to the large reception hall one's attention is directly drawn to the unique method employed of reaching the upper floor. In the living room, which is probably 20x35 feet, a large concrete fireplace and mantel is the principal feature, with a wide bay window. There are no corners to the house, as each of the four ends of the residence are of the bay type. The only wood used in the construction of the building is to be found in the door sills, windows and floors, the latter of which will be hardwood. The walls of the building are of cement, finished with white cement trimmings. Even the two bathrooms are fitted with cement tubs. In all there are ten rooms. The roof is of concrete, surrounded with a parapet, the porch roofs are of the same type, thus affording second story porches in the front and rear, both of which are fitted up with concrete flower troughs in which blooming flowers are now to be seen even in the unfinished condition of the house. On the front second story porch a fountain is arranged. —Engineering Record.

Durability of Steel.

It has been shown that nearly all the failures of steel occur very early in its history. If a plate or bar of mild steel lasts for a year in service, it may be trusted to last for many years. The most injurious thing is continued bending backward and forward, as in what is called the "panting" of a boiler end. As one authority puts it, steel has a somewhat "tumultuous youth," but "in middle age it is trustworthy, and in old age beyond reproach." In regard to corrosion there is a difference of opinion, some holding that steel corrodes more readily than iron.—Harper's Weekly.

Gathering Fruit.

When gathering fruit, peaches or pears, a clever woman invented a simple device that insured the plucking of fruit without danger of bruising it.

The top was taken off a tin tomato can and the can attached to the end of a broomhandle, so that it formed a cuplike arrangement.

The can is put up underneath the fruit and a slight shake given to detach it from the tree, letting it fall into the can, which is lowered and emptied quickly. Put a can on the end of a clothes prop if the fruit hangs high.

"George Sand."

It was from Leonard Jules Sandeau, the celebrated French novelist and dramatist, born at Aubusson a century ago, that another and far greater writer derived her nom de guerre.

When a young student in Paris Sandeau made the acquaintance of Mme. Dudevant, and during a short-lived friendship they collaborated in a novel, "Rose et Blanche," which was published in 1881. Then they parted, but Mme. Dudevant, while relinquishing Sandeau's friendship, took to herself a portion of his name and elected to be known henceforth as George Sand.

"EIGHTS" ARE THEIR HOODOOS

Postal Clerks Say Stamps of That Denomination Cause Them Much Financial Loss.

When a meek little man stepped up to the stamp window in a branch office and asked for an eight cent stamp he caused as much consternation as if he had demanded "your money or your life."

All the clerks came to the window to take a look at him. They muttered to one another and made strange and fantastic signs, crossed their fingers, knocked on wood and did various other things that are supposed to drive away evil spirits.

"We're just out of eight cent stamps," a clerk finally stammered. "Got lots of two and ones."

"Well, gimme a five and a three," said the meek little man, upon receiving which he paid for them and departed.

"What's the matter with the eights?" queried an inquisitive spectator.

The stamp clerk was still too nervous to answer, but one of the others said, with a smile:

"Eights are hoodoos. None of the small offices handle them if they can help it. It's this way: They are just a wee shade different in color from the ones and it is no infrequent thing for a stamp clerk in a hurry to hand out a lot of eights when ones are asked and paid for. It always costs him seven cents a stamp when he does it. The clerk here the other day, during the rush hour, when the offices are closing, was called upon for a dollar's worth of ones. He handed out a hundred eights instead. Cost him seven dollars. Then he got rid of all the rest of the eights and now he won't have anything to do with eights. Even says 'eaten' instead of 'ate.'"

ODD WAYS OF THE COMMONS

Illustrated by the Imminent Peril of Mr. Pearce, Who Read Newspaper During Session.

A member of the British parliament remarks in London Opinion that the rules of the house of commons are past all understanding, and then proceeds to cite the case of Mr. Pearce, M. P., and the imminent danger in which he one day appeared to be. This was when the sergeant-at-arms, with his terrible sword in hand, rose from his chair and rushed with cyclonic speed in the direction of the mild, meek and altogether unconscious-of-offense member. It was quickly made clear what was the cause of this hasty saber charge by the sergeant. Mr. Pearce had actually been reading a newspaper, and there is no more heinous offense known to parliament. The members when in the chamber are not permitted to read newspapers for any purpose not immediately connected with the debate actually in progress, though one may succeed in doing it surreptitiously by folding the newspaper small and concealing it behind the order paper of the day, much like a boy may nibble at an apple in school, concealing the pippin behind his spelling book. Yet more gross breaches of parliamentary etiquette and decorum may be seen, members even wearing their hats when a fellow member is addressing the house, and even the dearest friends of an orator may go to sleep while he is delivering his choicest periods.

Japanese Fruit Trees.

Among the many ways of their own that the Japanese have for doing is their system of pruning and training fruit trees. The system is called "tana," and consists in training the branches overhead on trellis work made of bamboo or wire supported on wooden posts about five and a half feet high.

This offers advantages in gathering the fruit, and not only serves to protect the trees against wind and storms, but is said to increase production. Only very light pruning is done, and that usually in the wintertime. This system is generally adopted for pears and vines, less often for apples and plums.—Youth's Companion.

Life of the Grapevine.

There are some who contend that the life of the grapevine is longer than that of the oak. It is rare that a wild grapevine is found that has died of old age. Pliny mentions a vine 600 years old. There is a vine at Hampton Court, England, planted in 1769, while here in America there is a wild grapevine on the shores of Mobile Bay, within a mile of Daphne, Ala. commonly known as the "General Jackson" vine, more than 6 feet in circumference at its base. There is a grapevine in Carpenteria, Cal., under which more than eight hundred persons may stand. Its trunk is eight feet in diameter at the base and it has borne as high as ten tons of fruit. It is said that this vine was planted in 1842.

Good Mental Tonic.

As appearance means so much to the average woman, mentally as well as socially, the question often arises, "Is she justified in aiding or improving nature if she sees fit?" Many of our well-known medical men think that "make-up" is as good a mental tonic as anyone can take and greatly advise its use, especially for the girl who has some slight personal defect—a scar, a poor complexion or bloodless lips, for the knowledge of her defects makes her shy and oftentimes sulky and miserable.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and Your Gray Hair Will Quickly Vanish.

Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will offset the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. Nothing has ever been found more effective for this purpose than these two time-honored remedies, but Wyeth, a modern chemist, has combined the two with other ingredients, which makes a delightful dressing for the hair, and which not only removes every trace of dandruff but promotes the growth of the hair. It also stops the hair from falling out, and makes it beautiful.

All druggists are authorized to refund the money if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair and don't resort to old-time hair dyes. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agents, Koch Pharmacy.
